Augusta Victoria Dying
How the Irish Fight
Eating Worms
Immigrants Welcome
By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1920.

Women always have "the worst of it," whether they live like Nancy, with Bill Sykes, or like Augusta Victoria, former Empress of Germany, with the Kaiser in his palace.

Women share equally the misfortunes, and feel the pain more keenly. The glory, when it comes, is not for them.

Augusta Victoria bore the long line of Hohenzollern boys. The Emperor's part was having himself photographed with them, all in uniform, some with spiked helmets, some with skull and crossbones.

All her sons have been scattered, one has killed himself. Now she lies dying, and she must be glad to go, and finish having "all the worst of it."

More fighting and killing in Ireland. What is the power that keeps a small Celtic people still fighting against apparently hopeless odds, after seven hundred years of fighting and famine?

A hundred other peoples have settled down comfortably under the yoke. The Irish never settled down—still insisting "we will be free."

The Irish blood is the blood of the fair-hair Celts that said to Alexander, "We fear nothing, except that the sky may fall on us." They belong to the race that once fought all through the mountains and valleys from the Dardanelles to the English Channel.

On the island of Ireland, separated from invasion by the channel, the Celtic race has retained its original fighting quality.

If it could not be conquered and really put down during seven hundred years of ruthless murder, famine and hideous economic exploitation, how will it be put down now by a generation more squeamish, if not more gentle, that must keep up appearances before the League of Nations and before the world?

If you want to be free, fighting pays. Nothing else will help it.

Professor Shaw, in Colorado, to prove that angleworms are good to eat, ate a handful of them fried in butter, much to the edification of the high school class in biology.

The learned professor probably told the young ladies and gentlemen that among many peoples, certain of the American tribes, for instance, worms, grasshoppers, mice, snakes, even clay, formed the principal diet. But, luckily for those school children and that professor, their ancestors were all cannibals. They hunted and ate the inferior insect-eating tribes, thus they always had fresh meat in the cave, fed the children well and developed the strong races that now rule. We all owe much to ancestral doings that would shock us now.

The little State of Connecticut has, within a year, absorbed twenty-five thousand immigrants, mainly from Southern Europe. This gives you an idea of the influx from abroad that is to have most important effects on this country.

Immigration will be opposed in the name of labor, as immigration always has been opposed, by those that would like to hold their jobs without working seriously.

And immigration, which will help the entire nation, will do more for labor than for any other class, not excepting owners of coal mines or steel plants.

The well-named "know nothing," gentleman asks: "Don't you know that if you bring in millions of foreigners there will be more of us to divide the country's wealth, not enough jobs to go around?"

Well, there are 105,000,000 of us now, and five dollars a day is not considered high wages.

When there were fewer than four million people in this country, there was just ONE mechanic, a New England carpenter, able to average one dollar a day all the year round.

The population of the country has been multiplied by twenty-five, and wages by at least five. That is the answer.

Those twenty-five thousand immigrants in Connecticut will take all that they eat and wear, and the houses in which they live, right out of the stony soil of Connecticut. That soil the native-born, long ago, pronounced not worth cultivating.

Give those twenty-five thousand men machinery, land and a fair chance and see what they will do. They won't take anybody's job—many of them will CREATE jobs for others.

Coming over in the steerage from Ireland at this moment are poverty-stricken, hunted Jews, that inside of ten years will be providing good pay, steady employment and prosperity for hundreds of native-born.

There is no limit to the wealth of this continent. We need industry, courage and intelligence to dig it out and distribute it.

Remember that the State of Texas, intensively cultivated, would feed the entire population of the earth. That will save you from worry about immigration.

Whoever really works need not fear for his job. The other kind should lose it.

STRUGGLES IN GRASP OF MAN

Agnes MacDougall Beats Off Attacker in Dover Street, West Somerville

Agnes MacDougall of No. 5 Rice street, Cambridge, fought off a man who attacked her as she was walking home along Dover street, West Somerville. She reported the attack to the Somerville police today.

The man followed her for several blocks along Dover street and when he attempted to quicken her gait ran after her and caught up to her near Meacham road.

Without saying a word he grabbed her and pushed her toward a wooden fence. Miss MacDougall screamed and beat her assailant with her fists. Then, fearing her cries would bring help, the attacker ran away.

Miss MacDougall, who is a young woman in the twenties, described her assailant as being about 21 years of age, five feet nine inches in height and about 160 pounds in weight. He wore a dark gray raincoat and hat.

37 IN PERIL AS LAKE BOAT HITS SANDBAR

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Grave fears were expressed today for the safety of the ore boat Memphis of the Pittsburgh Steamship Company, aground on a sandbar 2½ miles off South Chicago. The captain and thirty-six of the crew are on board and a detachment from the Jackson Park coast guard station is standing by. The boat's impact was so great several plates in her side were sprung and her machinery paralyzed by water that poured in.

$120,000,000 TAX PAID ON LIQUORS THIS YEAR

Washington, Nov. 24.—The rush to stock up in whiskey and other liquors before the "drought" brought into the treasury $120,000,000 in taxes this year, or about one-fourth of the government's total revenues in prewar days, the Internal Revenue Bureau announced today.

WINTHROP MENACED BY STORM

Another High Tide Sweeps Over Seawall; Shipping Still Tied Up

Another record-breaking high tide swept the New England coast today, adding to the devastation caused by yesterday's gale, which ended with a brief but fairly heavy snowstorm.

Huge seas once more burst over the seawall at Winthrop, surged across the Shore drive and tumbled down the side streets which had been closed to traffic. These streets were filled out and undermined by yesterday's torrents to such an extent that they were rendered unsafe.

Many of the residents of Winthrop left home early in order to avoid the flood and get to Boston with dry feet. With the stay-at-homes dories and rubber boots were again in order.

Shore drive, on the Crest, was several inches deep with sand, pebbles and rocks, some of the latter weighing four or five pounds. Shingles ripped from the roofs of houses on the Crest by yesterday's surf were also in evidence.

More than an hour before high water today the Crest was inundated, with surf breaking thirty feet in air, drenching the residences across the drive. Point Shirley was also flooded, and the trolley line was again put out of commission between that place and Winthrop Beach. The new pier, built by the Winthrop Highlands Association, reported to have been wrecked yesterday, was found to have been only slightly damaged.

Cloudy weather was predicted for today and tomorrow by the weather bureau, with not much change in temperature.

A 20 to 25-mile an hour northeaster kept the seas high and sailings impossible today. Unless there is considerable abatement, it is doubtful if shipping can be resumed before Thursday or Friday.

The only ship to arrive in Boston harbor today was the steamer Jonancy from Norfolk with coal. Several tried to sail, but were compelled to put back.

WATCHMAN IS HUMAN TORCH

Clothes Blazing With Gasoline at Somerville, Man Rushes to Death in Storm

A pillar of flame, William D Philpott, fifty-nine years old, of No. 4 Pemberton terrace, North Cambridge, and a fireman and watchman at the Boston Burial Case Company's plant at No. 271 Highland avenue, West Somerville, dashed out into the snowstorm today seeking to quench the fire that was consuming him.

His screams as he rolled on the ground were heard by Charles Hubbard, who ran to his assistance, but the fire had taken too firm a grip upon the clothing of the victim and Hubbard merely burned his own hands.

After striving in vain for several moments to extinguish the fire, Hubbard ran for aid to the quarters of Fire Engine No. 4, a short distance away, where he called Lieutenant Walter Young, who dashed to the assistance of Philpott.

When the firemen arrived they found the watchman lying nude on the snowy ground, every stitch of clothing save his shoes, burned from his blackened body.

He was rushed to the Somerville Hospital, where he died a short time later.

From their investigation and the incoherent gasps of the dying man the police declare that he must have been carrying a bottle of gasoline and a lighted lantern on the first floor of the plant when the gasoline became ignited, exploded and set his clothing afire.

The broken bottle and smashed lantern were found where he let them fall as the flames enveloped him.

Y. M. C. A. 1920 CLUB TO GIVE SHOW ON HOLIDAY

The third annual show of the 1920 Club of the Huntington Avenue Y. M. C. A. will be given in Bates Hall, Thanksgiving night. A program of eight vaudeville acts and motion pictures has been arranged. C. W. Cox is president of the club and C. P. Foster business manager of the show. Among the entertainers are the Meteor Players, Kirkeness Brothers, juvenile comedians, and the "Y" trio.

MINERS AND OPERATORS CALLED TO CONFERENCE

Washington, Nov. 24—Secretary of Labor Wilson today issued a call for a meeting in Washington of the joint wage committee of the miners and operators of the anthracite field for December 1 at 2 p. m. to adjust the wage scale.

MISS GRACE HAMLIN, Soloist. | SENATOR DAVID I. WALSH, Massachusetts.

'America First' Rally to Revel in Song

When you leave your home on Friday evening to come to Boston's "America First" Thanksgiving in Mechanics Hall, Huntington avenue, be sure to bring your singing voice with you.

Miss Grace Hamlin, celebrated Boston soprano, who has generously responded to the Boston American's invitation to be the principal soloist at this patriotic Thanksgiving, makes the suggestion that everybody in the big audience join her in singing America's best loved song, so be prepared.

Miss Hamlin, who will lead the Massachusetts singing section at the inauguration of Harding and Coolidge next March, will be heard on Friday evening in three numbers, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "A long, Long Trail" and the "Star Spangled Banner." The soloist was the first person to sing over the transcontinental telephone from Boston to San Francisco. When in Boston, Miss Hamlin sang "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" and "America, I Love You." She heard the applause of an audience three thousand miles distant in the Auditorium at San Francisco.

The New England governor who has been mentioned in these notices from time to time as likely to be one of the orators of the "America First" Thanksgiving is the Hon. John H. Bartlett of New Hampshire. Governor Bartlett will bring to the meeting just the sort of message to be expected from the State which produced John Stark, John Sullivan, Matthew Thornton, John A. Dix and Daniel Webster, and which today is the home of such uncompromising Americans as Bartlett and George H. Moses.

As has already been announced, the three other orators of the evening

ASQUITH URGES IRISH PEACE

Condemns British Reprisals as Well as Slaying of Army Officers

By International News Service.

London, Nov. 24.—Premier Premier H. H. Asquith gave notice that he would move a resolution in the House of Commons tonight condemning the outrages against British army officers in Ireland.

"I feel only deep abhorrence for Sunday's assassinations," said the ex-Premier. "But at the same time I deplore the action of the British officials in attempting to suppress Irish terrorism through reprisals. There is the utmost urgency for immediate steps towards pacification."

Two persons died of Cork today from wounds received when a bomb was thrown in Patrick street, Sixteen persons were injured.

THOMAS W. LAWSON LOSES $2,621 SUIT TO EVELAND

A jury in the Superior Court today before Judge Quinn returned a verdict of $2,621.77 for the plaintiff in the suit of Arthur J. Eveland against Thomas W. Lawson. Eveland, a mining engineer, says that on February 1, 1916, he was employed at $500 a month and expenses by Lawson to investigate mining prospects in South America. From February 1, 1916, to April 1, 1917, Mr. Eveland said he incurred expenses to the amount of $5,342.10, which together with $7,000 due as salary, made a total of $12,342.10. Lawson paid Eveland $9,394.23 on account, leaving a balance of $2,947.87, which the latter sued for.

POLICE CATCH ONE IN GARAGE

"Broke In to Get Water for Auto," Says Other; Hastings Fined on Drunk Charge

Two Harvard juniors, Richard S. Hastings of Cambridge and Rufus Peckham of Cambridge and Washington, were arraigned in the Dedham court today, charged with breaking and entering the garage of Sidney M. Drew, Washington street, Wellesley.

Judge Staniford found Hastings guilty of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, and fined him $100. On the other charge, of breaking, entering and larceny, the court found against both youths and they were held in $2,000 each for the Grand Jury. They went to jail in default of bail.

According to the police, Patrolman David Sweeney of the Wellesley department heard a sound of breaking glass in Drew's garage early today. Hurrying to the spot, Drew is alleged to have found Hastings inside and the other young man waiting for the start.

According to the police, Peckham told the police that he had thrown a stone through the window of the garage so that Hastings might get in to operate the car. Drew's automobile. The young men refused to give their street addresses in Cambridge.

TWO HELD ON ROBBERY CHARGE IN ROXBURY

George McDermott of Detroit and Joseph P. Donahue of Washington street, who are alleged to have held up and robbed Harry A. Hoke, Jr., as he was leaving the drugstore at No. 2067 Washington street, Roxbury, were held in $2,500 each for the Superior Court, on two counts of robbery, by the Roxbury Court today. They are also accused of the robbery of Leon Brin, Nov. 109 Queensberry street, last May. A third charge of carrying a deadly weapon has been made against Donahue.

RED REVOLT BREAKS OUT IN TUSCANY

men Sunday morning has been arrested.

The jails at Dublin are crowded with prisoners. More than 100 arrests were made in Dublin and environs during the last twenty-four hours.

The death list in Ireland in disorders since last Saturday is approaching forty-five.

During the military and police raids in the Dublin district the residence of Archbishop Walsh was raided and William Kelly, the Archbishop's valet, was arrested.

The raid on the residence of the archbishop was made without warning. His home was surrounded and with no show of courtesy to the ecclesiastical office, admission was demanded and the house searched from top to bottom.

More than 100 other arrests of Sinn Feiners were made by the details of police and military as they searched house to house in their grim quest for the Irish "gun men" of Sunday. The military cordon has been drawn tighter around the capital with the arrival of reinforcements. Curfew is enforced stricter than ever.

The murder of Edward Carmody by "Black and Tans" at Ballylongford in Limerick was reported here today. Reports from other sections of Ireland indicate that there has been no cessation of unrest.

Greenwood Expected to Urge Greater Terrorism

London, Nov. 24.—Complete and emphatic vindication of the British policy in Ireland, with the promise of even sterner measures if necessary, was expected to be the keynote of the speech of Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, in the Irish debate today in the House of Commons.

The speech was waited with absorbing interest. It was declared that Greenwood would face the Commons members fortified by a mass of captured Sinn Fein evidence giving details of a systematic plan for an attack upon the lives of ministers and the destruction of crown property.

Backed by a nation-wide abhorrence of Sunday's Dublin assassinations, London is planning a monster public military funeral for the victims tomorrow. Thousands of former service men are planning to attend en masse. The bodies will be brought to England today on British destroyers from Dublin.

The death roll of the Croke Park battle reached a total of fourteen today with the death of Daniel Carroll and William Currinance.

Red Cross Is Showing How to Keep Nation Well

By MRS. ISABELLE W. BAKER,

Director Bureau of Instruction, Department of Nursing, New England Division, American Red Cross.

In this age of general responsibility toward one's fellow-men, and the increased educational attempts to make better citizens, one should understand how the New England Division of the Red Cross is trying to reach women and girls throughout the New England States.

Chapters and branches are equipping classrooms in teaching centres and in Red Cross community houses for the conducting of classes in home hygiene and care of the sick.

In some instances the Junior Red Cross is establishing classrooms in schools in which the courses are given, in this way reaching hundreds of women and girls all over the New England States, who are learning preventive measures, as well as how to take care of their own sick.

In the school courses they learn personal hygiene as well as general hygiene, and also how to assist in the sick room. The high school girls get a good idea of what the nursing profession has to offer them, which enables them to decide their own fitness for the work of a graduate nurse.

GETS 15 MONTHS FOR AUTO THEFT

'Public Must Be Protected,' Says Judge Raymond in Sentencing John Koslosky

Judge Raymond in Middlesex Superior court at East Cambridge today sentenced John Koslosky, one of the convicted automobile thieves, to fifteen months in the East Cambridge House of Correction.

Attorney Rowland for Koslosky filed a motion for stay of sentence, which the court took under advisement.

The verdict in the case, which was finished late yesterday afternoon followed a trial which lasted all day, was sealed by the jury and read in court today.

The jury found Koslosky not guilty of the charge of conspiracy to steal automobiles, but guilty of the charge of attempting to steal an auto, the property of Kingsbury Brown, at Cambridge, August 21.

Assistant District Attorney George S. Harvey, who has been in charge of the auto theft cases for the government, addressed the court, outlining Koslosky's record, which he declared is none too good.

He asked that the prisoner be punished, although he had materially aided the government in securing evidence in the automobile theft cases. Mr. Harvey explained that Koslosky had been rewarded for that assistance by being paroled from the Concord Reformatory last June and had promptly gone back to his former habits.

Although Attorney Rowley pleaded for clemency, Judge Raymond declared that "the public must be protected" and that the court was convinced that the prisoner was "inherently bad with no desire for reform."

which was due to sail Monday, left the harbor at 9 a. m. today, but found the sea too rough and returned. The tug A. Granger Benson which, with several barges of coal badly needed in Boston, has been tied up in the Cape Cod Canal, started out early today, but found the sea so bad that she put back into the refuge of the breakwater at Sandwich.

The steamship Belfast, which left Bangor for Boston on Monday and was tied up at Rockland by the storm Monday afternoon, is still at Rockland. The steamship Governor Dingley, due to sail from Portland for here Monday night, was still in Portland harbor today. The steamship Pawnee did not sail for New York last night per schedule and today was still at the dock.

ing will be Senator Reed of Missouri, Senator Gore of Oklahoma and Senator David I. Walsh. Hon. Joseph H. Warner of Taunton, Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, will preside.

CONCERT BEGINS AT 7.

Mail and telephone inquiries concerning seats is evidence of the widespread interest in Friday evening's great meeting, the purpose of which is to celebrate properly the return of Americans to the Americanism of the fathers.

There are no reserved seats. The doors will be opened at 7 o'clock when Stone's Military Band will begin a preliminary concert, which will continue until the first speaker is presented by Chairman Warner promptly on the stroke of 8.

More than one suggestion has been made that, notwithstanding America's rejection of the League of Nations proposition by a plurality of nearly 7,000,000 of their fellow citizens, some of the "internationalists" in Uncle Sam's house cling to the idea of "putting it across." Reed, Gore, Walsh and Bartlett will indicate to those trouble-makers the futility of so attempting.

NAME IT FAMILY PARTY.

Come to Friday evening's meeting in Mechanics Hall if you feel like enjoying two hours of good, old-fashioned Americanism, with none but Yankee Doodle decorations. Hear and sing the good old American songs. Get the message, and take it away with you!

It will be a family party. No reason in the world why you and the good wife, and John, Mary, Susie and young Bill should not come together.

Remember the night, Friday; the place, Mechanics building, Huntington avenue; and that the concert hour begins at 7 o'clock.

No admission fee; bring an American heart and make yourself at home.

4 POSTOFFICE BANDITS CAUGHT

Arrested at Gun Point in Norwood; All Give Quincy Addresses

Four men were arrested at the point of a pistol by Patrolman Patrick Coyne of Norwood today as they attempting to break into the Norwood postoffice.

Surprised by the officer as they were on the point of forcing a rear window, they made no resistance, although two were armed.

Coyne blew his whistle for help and was assisted in taking his prisoners to the lockup by Patrolman Charles Donnell.

The men said they were from Quincy. They gave their names and addresses as John Richards, Buckley street, and Elmer J. Peters, Alexander Mackay and Edward Wesling, Arthur street.

On their persons the police found two revolvers, masks, flashlights and other tools used in burglary.

The authorities state that one of the men confessed that the gang made a break recently in Newport, R. I. Quincy police immediately began a search of their rooms for loot.

Silverware, jewelry and clothing worth $500 was found in Richards' room.

The four were arraigned in Dedham District Court and held in $5,000 each, pending investigation.

U. S. GIRLS DON'T KNOW HOW TO LIVE, SAYS WEALTHIEST BRIDE

OPERA STAR REJECTS SOCIETY

Mlle. Walska Says American Debutantes Wither in Their Unromantic Atmosphere

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Mlle. Ganna Walska, who arrived in Chicago to appear in the title role of the opera "Zaza," revealed the reason why she sacrificed a Paris honeymoon with the "richest bachelor in the world," Alexander Smith Cochran of New York, for the theatre.

She does not want to be a society woman in New York and Paris—that is the reason.

"No society woman would be a society woman if she could be anything else," she exclaimed, as if to flaunt her attainments in the face of the envious.

She does not think much of American women. They do not know how to live, in her opinion.

PITIES AMERICAN GIRLS.

"The American women," she said, "they are so exquisite, so lovely, so starving for vivid color in their gray existence. They sit waiting, waiting for life to come to them. But in Europe, one lives. Oh, the pity of these American girls. They wither in the unromantic atmosphere.

"I went to the Ritz-Garden wedding of a beautiful debutante in New York. 'Oh, mother,' she cried, as the time came for the ceremony, 'give me a cigarette. Just one drag, quick, mother.' After wedding, it was one enough. She must have the stimulus of a cigarette.

"Ah, it is a tragedy and they do not know it. As soon as I land in New York I feel it, and again when I came to Chicago—the quality of the soul which is in the air here, a sterilizing of the emotions."

She will now retire from grand opera, now that you are mistress of yachts, villas, great town houses and country estates?" she was asked.

LIKES MEN WHO CAN KISS WELL.

"Ah, no. I did not marry my husband for his dollars. It is him I care for," she replied. "Besides I only know of his estates through the newspapers. To be a society woman in New York or Paris? No, no." She was emphatic.

The singer has her opinion of Kissing. She does not like a man who cannot kiss well. The subject came up.

"This Joseph Hislop kisses, oh, so wonderfully in the opera show," she said. "I like that. No, my husband will not be jealous. I hate a man who does not kiss well.

"I read about this poor Georges Baklanoff. The preachers in Chicago, they said, wish him put out of the opera because of his love affair girl. If I were this noble Baklanoff I would throw her out the window. Because he is an artist he is pilloried."

As she spoke she turned her Grecian profile to caress Habeeb, her white angora kitten, which she had smuggled into the Blackstone Hotel under her big fur coat.

FREIGHT RATES BOOST TURKEY COST 4 CENTS CONSIDERED

New England Railroad Chiefs Confer on Redivision for This District

In Spite of Receipts of 2,000,000 Pounds During Week, Dealers Jump Prices

An important conference of New England railroad heads began in Boston today to consider a redivision of freight rates in this district. The railroad chiefs met in the director's room of the New Haven road.

President Pearson of the New Haven said the conference was an outgrowth of the recent meeting of New England railroad heads with the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington.

He said the heavy selling of New Haven stock, in which the stock went off five points on the ballot, was talk of a receivership as a result of the Washington conference.

"I think," he said, "that it is safe to assume none of the New England roads stand in immediate danger of a receivership."

He explained that the freight rates at present in force did not permit New England railroads to get the 6 per cent. on property allowed by law.

At the same time, he said, connecting roads were benefiting by this situation and getting more than 6 per cent.

"I am confident freight rates will be redivided," he concluded. "The railroads of a great industrial section like New England will not be permitted to starve."

SUFFRAGE FLAG WILL FLY AT STATE HOUSE

Two American flags will fly from the State House tomorrow—the extra one in honor of the victory of woman suffrage. The lighting of the second flag is to represent women's thanksgiving for the ballot. Governor Coolidge gave orders to fly the two flags on recommendation of Mrs. George H. Fall of Medford, wife of former Mayor Fall, in memory of Lucy Stone.

WOMAN FOUND GUILTY OF SLAYING HUSBAND

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 24.—Mrs. Augusta Metz was found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of her husband, Wilbur Metz, at their home in this city about a year ago. This was the second trial of Mrs. Metz, the first jury disagreeing, who have worked for the campaign.

COOPER CAUGHT IN OREGON

Secretary to Missing Theatrical Magnate Small Had Been Sought Since December

Oregon City, Ore., Nov. 24.—Charles Cooper, a Canadian, whom police officials say admits he is John Doughty, sought in connection with the Abraham Small mystery in Toronto, was arrested here Monday night and today in custody of Canadian officials is on his way to Toronto.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—John Doughty, arrested in Oregon City, Ore., in connection with the mysterious disappearance of Ambrose J. Small, millionaire theatrical man, was sought by the Chicago authorities several months. His trail led from here to Oregon.

Bonds, worth $100,000 which belonged to Mr. Small and which Doughty is said to have taken, are believed to have been deposited in a Chicago bank.

Dispatches received here from Oregon declare that John Doughty, Small's secretary, who was arrested there yesterday, has confessed that he took the bonds and that they are hidden in Chicago.

HAD RECEIVED MILLION.

The authorities said today Doughty will undoubtedly be brought to Chicago before he is taken to Toronto. According to the police Doughty admitted having accompanied Mr. Small on a theatre in Chicago shortly after the millionaire disappeared from Toronto.

Mr. Small disappeared from his home in Toronto one year ago in December. He had sold his interest in eight theatres to a London syndicate and had received $1,000,000. It was reported that he had deposited the money to his credit in a Toronto bank. Advices from Toronto said he never drew against the deposit.

Mr. Small was associated with the theatrical firm of Klaw & Erlanger for many years. He was estimated to be worth $12,000,000.

SMALL'S AIDE 18 YEARS.

Doughty, investigation disclosed, had been Mr. Small's secretary and confidential aide for some eighteen or twenty years. He was last heard from on December 26. It was believed by the Canadian authorities he had abducted Mr. Small and formal charges of abduction and theft were made against him. A reward of $15,000 was offered for his apprehension. He was arrested in Oregon about ten days ago but was not arrested until Monday night.

Runaway Cow Taken by Police Must Die

Hark to the saga of Gwendolyn, the cow with the wanderlust, and the daring deeds of Eddie Murphy, toreador of Brattle Square Station.

It was storming, sheets of rain were drenching Harvard square, when through the night came a herd of cattle, Gwendolyn among them, her black and white coat gleaming wet under the arc lights.

Harvard square was thronged despite the rain, and in the confusion Gwendolyn's wanderlust got the better of her. She left her bovine companions and their human herders and went on a tour of "seeing Cambridge first," all by herself.

The college buildings, the shops and the moving picture palaces failed their share of her attention, until Toreador Murphy appeared.

Not for nothing did Eddie Murphy keep a great reader. He remembered Ursus, the giant Gaul in "Quo Vadis," and decided that the time had come to show his prowess.

First he tried moral suasion, but Gwendolyn, in common with freedom, refused to be cajoled with such rustic sounds as "co' boss," or enticed by the imaginary wisp of hay that Murphy stuck forth under her nose.

There was nothing for it but the Ursus stunt, so Murphy closed with her. Seizing her horns, he started twisting her neck. The slippery pavement helped and down went Gwendolyn, with Murphy underneath.

Just what would have happened Murphy declines to say, but about that moment other officers arrived, and Gwendolyn was led protesting to a deep full contralto to the fire station.

Today the New England Dressed Beef and Wool Company of Somerville sent a truck for her, and Gwendolyn, Dec. 24, another of Frank's victims, rode to her execution in state. She is to become porterhouse, sirloin, Gwendolyn, in common with her freedom, refused to be cajoled with such rustic sounds as "co' boss," or enticed by the imaginary wisp of hay that Murphy stuck forth under her nose.

GIRL PURSUES HER ASSAILANT

Daughter of State Detective Grady Attacked on Street in Winthrop

Attacked by a man on Crest avenue, Winthrop, as she was returning from a movie, Catherine Grady, nineteen years old, daughter of State Detective James J. Grady, fought off her assailant and then gave chase to him as he ran. He eluded her on Revere street and disappeared in the direction of Beachmont.

Miss Grady had reached the junction of Revere street and Crest avenue, near the railroad bridge, when the man ran up from behind and placed his hands over her eyes, holding in vain to throw her to the ground.

EX-POLICEMEN ARRAIGNED

Lahorne and Martin, Already Serving Jail Terms, Face Court on New Charges

John A. Lahorne and Ernest R. Martin, the former patrolmen of the City Hall station now serving sentences at Deer Island, whose arrest and trial together with that of Patrolman Webster precipitated the recent Grand Jury investigation of the police department, were arraigned on additional charges in the Municipal Court today.

The men were taken from jail on writs of habeas corpus. They pleaded not guilty to indictments charging them with breaking and entering and larceny as well as conspiracy.

Lahorne was charged with entering the plant of the Sathoel Chocolate Company on July 15, and the larceny of 2,000 pounds of candy valued at 11 a pound. He was further charged with conspiracy to steal the property on July 15.

Martin was arraigned on an indictment charging breaking and entering the store of William O'Connor and the larceny of 200 gallons of wine valued at $5 a gallon. An additional indictment charged conspiracy to steal O'Connor's property. Bail was set at $1,500 each by Judge Brown.

Mrs. Park Warns Lobbyists

Don't repeat even a slight remark made in confidence.
Don't lose your temper.
Don't boast.
Don't threaten.
Don't give up.—Mrs. Maude Wood Park's rules for lobbyists.

Washington, Nov. 24.—Two million women voters will be represented during the coming session of Congress by Mrs. Maud Wood Park. Mrs. Park is the woman who managed the passage of the Susan B. Anthony amendment through Congress and who has the confidence of the leaders in both the Democratic and Republican parties.

This does not mean that Mrs. Park was elected to Congress in the recent elections. It means that as chairman of the National League of Women Voters she will be the Washington spokesman for the 2,000,000 members of her organization this Winter.

KNOWS LAWMAKERS.

Mrs. Park knows what legislation the women voters of America desire to see added to the nation's statute books. She knows the men who make the laws. Her task is to bring the people and the representatives of the people together, so as to secure the passage of certain "social justice" measures.

The women voters have banded together for a Herculean task. They are out to secure the passage of the Sheppard-Towner bill by the short-term Congress, which assembles December 6. The short-term Congress once it becomes buried in appropriation bills, usually signed with a host of other measures, consequently it will require quick action on the part of Mrs. Park and her associates in Washington to interest Senators and Congressmen here in their aims.

The Sheppard-Towner bill provides for the protection of maternity and infancy in this country and will, as women believe, go a long way toward saving the lives of the 20,000 babies who now die each month from lack of protection.

CROSSES CONTINENT 4 TIMES.

Mrs. Park, who lives in Boston, gained her first national prominence when, as vice-president of the College Equal Suffrage League, she crossed the continent four times, speaking on woman suffrage at large colleges and State universities.

The quiet, forceful Republican is of slight build. She is at her best on the public platform or in the conference with party leaders, speaking in impressive fashion of measures which will benefit the homes of the American people. Mrs. Park is also one of the best platform orators among American women. Her breadth of vision, coupled with her wide vocabulary and the logical concatenation of her utterances, has baffled many party statesmen.

MRS. MAUD WOOD PARK,
Chairman of National League of Women Voters.

In the past when the National American Woman Suffrage Association took over its Washington home at No. 1626 Rhode Island avenue, Mrs. Park's "front door bobby" was a leading feature, but what her lobby may be in the future it is difficult to surmise. Mrs. Park has a rule of strictly nonpartisan policy which she will be expected to maintain in her new nonpartisan capacity as chairman of the National League of Woman Voters.

TO WED NIECE OF DEAD WIFE

Holyoke Millionaire, 67, to Take Classmate of His Son as Bride

Holyoke, Nov. 24.—Mrs. Charles Pheips today announced the engagement of her daughter, Josamine, to Edward Parsons Bagge, sixteen years old, one of the wealthiest men of this section.

Miss Pheips is the niece of Mr. Bagge's former wife, who died three years ago, and consequently the first cousin of Dr. E. Baggs, Jr., and Miss Bagge, the two are the top rung of the bridegroom-to-be.

Graduated from Holyoke High School with the two younger sons, graduating with them in the class of 1905, Dr. Baggs married another classmate, Miss Marion Sears of Holyoke, and Aaron married still another classmate, Miss Helen Moore.

No date has been set for the wedding, but it is expected that it will be one of the first affairs to be held in the new Second Congregational church, which is now completed, some time in the Spring.

Mr. Bagge, who is a multi-millionaire, is president of the stock-holder in the Parsons Paper Company, as well as director in a number of other Holyoke and Western Massachusetts institutions. His family is one of the oldest in Holyoke, having settled in this vicinity in the beginning of the eighteenth century.

WEST END MAN IS GUN VICTIM

Mystery in Shooting of Dellese Near Charlestown State Prison

A veil of mystery surrounds the shooting of James J. Dellese, of No. 40 Stanford street, Boston, at the Charlestown end of the Prison Point bridge.

Four shots were fired by an unidentified assailant, who made his escape in the darkness and who is being sought by the police.

Only one bullet hit Dellese it was found when he was examined at the Massachusetts General Hospital, where he was taken after the attack, and where he is now a patient.

According to witnesses Dellese and another man arrived at the bridge in an automobile and both alighted. Almost immediately the unidentified man pulled a revolver and opened fire on Dellese, who was running away.

After the shooting, the assailant ran down the incline to the railroad yards and was seen by Thomas Moran of No. 73 Lawrence street, Charlestown, who was walking toward Cambridge. The latter was unable to intercept him, however.

Dellese described his assailant as a man about twenty-five or thirty years old, five feet, six inches in height, about 140 pounds in weight, of dark complexion and wearing a cap pulled down over his eyes. He was unable to tell his name.

James Murray and Thomas H. Decker, who were in the railroad yards at the time, heard a heavy object strike the ground and upon searching found a 38-calibre revolver fully loaded, near the tracks.

The sun was beginning to penetrate into the little back yard, where the flowers were still glistening with the drops of their morning bath, and Mr. Bentley sat by the window reading his newspaper, his spectacles on his nose and a great gray cat rubbing herself against his legs. He rose with alacrity.

"Good morning, sir," he said, and his welcome implied that early morning visits from him were the most common and natural of occurrences. "Sam, a plate for Mr. Hodder. I was just hoping you would come and tell me what Dr. Jarvis had said about the case."

Hot Hodder was not deceived. He believed that Mr. Bentley understood perfectly why he had come, and the knowledge of the old gentleman's comprehension seriously added to his sense of refuge. He found himself seated once more at the mahogany table, permitting Sam to fill his cup with coffee.

"Jarvis has given a favorable report, and he is coming this morning himself, in an automobile, to take the boy out to the hospital."

"That is like Jarvis," was Mr. Bentley's comment. "We will go together, after breakfast, if convenient for you," he added.

"I hoped you would," replied the rector. "And I was going to ask you a favor. I have a check, given me by a young lady to use at my discretion, and it occurred to me that Garvin might be willing to accept some proposal from you." He thought of Nan Ferguson, and of the ope he had expressed of finding some one in Dalton Street.

"I have been considering the matter," Mr. Bentley said. "I know a friend who lives on the trolley line a little beyond the hospital, a widow. It is like the country there, you know, and I think Mrs. Bledsoe could be induced to take the Garvins. And then something can be arranged for him. I will find an opportunity to speak to him this morning."

Hodder sipped his coffee and looked out at the morning glories opening to the sun.

"Mrs. Garvin was alone last night. He had gone out shortly after we left, and had not waited for the doctor. She was greatly worried."

Hodder found himself discussing these matters on which, an hour before, he had feared to permit his mind to dwell. And presently, not without feeling, but in a manner eliminating all account of his personal emotions, he was relating that climactic episode of the woman at the piano. The old gentleman listened intently, and in silence.

"Yes," he said, when the rector had finished, "that is my observation. Most of them are driven to the life, and held in it, of course, by a remorseless civilization. Individuals may be culpable, Mr. Hodder—are culpable. But we cannot put the whole responsibility on individuals."

"No," Hodder assented. "I can see that now." He paused a moment, and as his mind dwelt upon the scene he was again the woman standing before him in bravado, the whole terrible meaning of her life and soul flashed through him as one poignant sensation. Her dauntless determination to accept the consequence of her acts, her willingness to look her future in the face, cried out to him in challenge.

"She refused unconditionally," he said.

Mr. Bentley seemed to read his thought, divine his appeal.

"We must wait," he answered.

"Do you think——?" Hodder began, and stopped abruptly.

"I remember another case, somewhat similar," said Mr. Bentley. "This woman, too, had the spirit you describe—we could do nothing with her. We kept an eye on her, or rather Sally Grover did—she deserves credit—and finally an occasion presented itself."

"And the woman you speak of was—rehabilitated?" Hodder asked. He avoided the word "saved."

"Yes, sir. It was one of the fortunate cases. There are others which are not so fortunate."

Hodder nodded.

"We are beginning to recognize that we are dealing, in many instances, with a disease," Mr. Bentley went on. "I am far from saying that it cannot be cured, but sometimes we are forced to admit that the cure is not within our power, Mr. Hodder."

While he was engaged in these speculations the door opened.

"Heah's Miss Sally, Marse He'ace," said Sam.

"Good morning, Sally," said Mr. Bentley, rising from the table with his customary courtesy. "I'm glad you came in. Let me introduce Mr. Hodder, of St. John's."

What's the News?

Miss Grover had capability written all over her. She was a young woman of thirty, slim to sparseness, simply dressed in a shirtwaist and a dark blue skirt and, so distinctly American in type as to give a suggestion of the Indian. Her quick, deep-set eyes searched Hodder's face as she perked his hand: but her greeting was cordial, and matter-of-fact. She stimulated curiosity.

"Well, Sally, what's the news?" Mr. Bentley asked.

"Brain, the cabinet-maker, was on the rampage again, Mr. Bentley. His wife was here yesterday when I got home from work, and I went over with her. He was in a beastly state, and all the niggers an' children in the neighborhood, including his own, around the shop. Fused oil, landed whiskey," she explained, succinctly.

"What did you do?"

"Took the bottle away from him," said Miss Grover. The simplicity of this method, Hodder thought, was undeniable. "Stayed there until he came to. Then I reckon I scared him some."

"That was wrong, Sally."

Miss Grover hissed her head.

"I imagine I did," Mr. Bentley replied, and his eyes twinkled. He rose and led the way into the library, where he opened his desk, produced a ledger, and wrote down the amount in a fine hand.

"Susan Brady, three dollars and thirty-five cents. I'll put it in the savings bank today. That makes twenty-two dollars and forty cents for Sue. She's growing rich."

"Some man'll get it," said Sally, "Sally, said Mr. Bentley, turning in his chair, "Mr. Hodder's been telling me about a rather unusual woman in that apartment house just above Fourteenth street, on the south side of Dalton street."

"I think I know her—by sight," Sally corrected herself. She appealed to Hodder. "Red hair, and lots of it—I suppose I would call it auburn. She must have been something of a beauty, once."

The rector assented, in some astonishment.

"Couldn't do anything with her, could you? I reckon not. I've tried her up and down Dalton street at night."

Hodder was no longer deceived by her matter-of-fact tone.

"I'll tell you what, Mr. Hodder," she went on, energetically, "there's not a particle of use running after those people, and the sooner you find it out the less worry and trouble you give yourself."

"Mr. Hodder didn't run after her, Sally," said Mr. Bentley, in gentle reproof.

Hodder smiled.

"Well," said Miss Grover, "I've had my eye on her. She has a history—most of 'em have. But this one's one of the women. When they're brazen like that, and have had good looks, you can nearly always tell. You've got to wait for something to happen, and trust to luck to be on the spot, or near it. It's a toss-up, of course. One thing is sure, you can't make friends with that kind if they get a notion you're up to anything."

"Sally, you must remember—" Mr. Bentley began.

Her tone became modified. Mr. Bentley was apparently the only human of whom she stood in awe.

"All I meant was," she said, addressing the rector, "that you've got to run across 'em in some natural way."

"I understood perfectly, and I agree with you," Hodder replied. "I have come, quite recently, to the same conclusion myself."

She gave him a penetrating glance; and he had to admit, inwardly, that a certain satisfaction followed Miss Grover's approval.

"Mercy, I have to be going!" she exclaimed, glancing at the black marble clock on the mantel. "We've got a lot of invoices to put through today. See you again, Mr. Hodder." She jerked his hand once more. "Good morning, Mr. Bentley."

"Good morning, Sally."

Mr. Bentley, too, was preoccupied.

a few dollars. I have four children to support, and my mother and husband and myself, so anything you may chance to give us would be gratefully received. You will please come, as the children will be greatly disappointed if you don't as they have great faith in you. I will close. Thanking you in their names, I remain——"

HUSBAND ILL SIX MONTHS.

A South Boston woman wrote:

"I am writing to you to ask you if you would please remember us with a Christmas basket. My husband is sick since last June. He got pneumonia in June and was in the City Hospital for five weeks. He came home last Tuesday, but he is pretty weak. I have three little boys and that is why I am writing to you. Two years ago he had influenza and I had to write to you, and he was laid up all last Winter with rheumatism, so each year we have had some trouble. Thanking you, I am——"

An ex-soldier's wife from Cambridge wrote:

"I am the wife of an ex-soldier, who was overseas twenty-one months. When my husband came home a year ago he was in very poor health and has not been able to work since. I go out to work to take care of him and find it very hard to make ends meet. A basket would be very much welcomed in my house because I have my father to care for also. If you could possibly spare one I woud be very grateful."

A Cambridge man wrote:

"I wish to call your attention to a pitiable case. There are three children ranging from six years to two months. The father is hopelessly sick from consumption and is now ordered to a camp. It will be a blow Christmas for the mother and the three children. Hoping that you will be able to see your way to investigate this case, I remain——"

The following letter was written by a twelve-year-old Dorchester boy:

"I am a boy twelve years old and have a sister fourteen years old. My mother died in August of last year, and my father left us five years ago. We stay with our grandmother. She is an old lady and goes out to work to support us. Please send us a basket, or else we will have to go without. Please send us anything you can spare, and don't forget my poor grandmother."

When a Family's Really Hungry

HERE'S a dish for big appetites. Boil rice, southern style, so that every flake is plump, and tender, and standing alone. Mould the rice in cups and place, like dumplings around the edge of a well-seasoned beef stew. Then pour the gravy over the rice. It certainly is great.

Rice is delicious for breakfast, dinner, and supper. Eat it as a cereal with sugar and cream. Eat it as a vegetable with all meats, fish, and poultry. Eat it as you do potatoes with gravy or butter on it. Eat it every day—you'll enjoy it.

Rice is the most delicious, most healthful, most economical food grown. American rice is the finest in the world. It excels in flavor, in purity, and in wholesomeness.

You save money by eating rice. One cupful makes enough for five people. Leftover rice is useful in preparing dozens of tasty dishes. None is wasted. There are over three hundred ways to prepare rice.

Keep healthy by eating rice. It builds up your strength. It sustains your energy. It is the quickest and easiest food to digest.

Cook Rice by this Master Recipe

Follow this famous old recipe of the south. It is so simple that anyone using it can successfully boil rice the first time they try.

Wash rice thoroughly in a strainer. Use a deep porcelain or agate-ware kettle. To four cups of boiling water add one level teaspoonful of salt. Then add one cup of washed rice so slowly that water continues to boil. Lift rice occasionally with fork, and shake kettle so that no kernels stick to bottom. But—this is important—never stir the rice. Boil twenty minutes. Then pour water off, if any, and place in open oven where it will finish swelling without burning. Each grain will stand alone, plump, tender, and delicious.

Here are a few others.

RICE MELANGE WITH FISH

Place any kind of fresh fish (about two pounds cut fine) in a kettle with one onion, one carrot, one celery stalk and some parsley, one quart of water, a little salt, and let it boil one hour. Cook in water until tender two stalks of celery and two carrots; take them out and let them drop. Put the dripped vegetables into a saucepan with a half cup of chopped ham (boiled), and half a cup of boiled rice. Pour over this the fish stock as above and let cook for a quarter of an hour. Serve.

RICE AND MEAT

Place in a double kettle a cup and one-half of sweet milk, teaspoonful of butter, half a teaspoonful salt and let it come to a boil. Add a cup of rice, cover and boil half an hour. Remove cover and add teacupful of chicken or veal cut in small pieces, cover and cook again twenty minutes and serve hot.

RICE A L'ITALIENNE

Have a half cup of freshly cooked rice; take one tablespoonful of butter and one of flour and rub together in a stew pan, add to these a cupful of grated cheese and a cup and one-half of hot water and a pinch of annotto. Stir rapidly and when perfectly smooth pour this mixture over the warm rice spread on a shallow fancy dish—as a low salad dish. Sprinkle finely grated cheese over the whole and serve hot, garnished with nasturtium leaves around the edges.

Formamint Tablets check the disease germs that lodge in the throat

EVERY time you breathe, you inhale thousands of infectious germs, and these immediately find a resting place in the soft tissue of your throat.

Keep a convenient bottle of Formamint Tablets in your pocket, dissolve one slowly in your mouth every time you are in a place where disease germs are prevalent—in street car, theatre, railroad train, store or on dusty street.

A pleasant tasting, but powerful antiseptic is released, and mixing with the saliva will quickly spread to every part of the mouth and throat, checking the germ life and preventing throat infection; possibly laryngitis, consilitis, "flu." Relieves hoarseness. Helpful for singers, actors, smokers, speakers, lecturers, etc. Children like them. 60c at all druggists.

Save Up Waste Paper for Sick Kiddies

Save your waste paper for a sick kiddie.

Tons from the waste paper baskets are pouring in on the Children's Hospital Campaign Committee, but more is needed to increase the $2,500,000 endowment being sought.

So many calls have been received at the endowment fund headquarters from householders who have paper that an extra force of clerks has been employed. The average amount received is ten tons daily. The committee needs several additional trucks to make the collections.

The waste paper campaign, the committee said, will probably equal the success of apple week.

All that is needed is to tie up the bundle and notify J. C. Smith at No. 97 Milk street, and a truck will call.

CHARGES PLEDGE TO WED BROKEN

Miss Nightingale Testifies Leith Jilted Her After Marriage Plans Were Made

Houlton, Me., Nov. 24.—Miss Stella B. Nightingale of Fort Fairfield, who is suing Charles Leith of the same town for $30,000, alleging breach of promise to wed, was the first witness to take the stand when trial of her suit opened here.

Miss Nightingale, who was in court with her mother, presented a striking picture, attired in a large black hat and dark coat. She is quite small and rather attractive.

TALK OF ENGAGEMENT.

Relating her story in a low voice, she said that she had taught school and when twenty-four years of age had met the defendant in the Fall of 1917 while attending a social. After that they met quite frequently, their friendship growing and in August of 1918 there was talk of an engagement. They often attended socials and places of entertainment and often went on automobile trips.

"On returning home from an automobile trip to Andover, N. B.," Miss Nightingale testified, "he told me that he loved me and wanted to marry me. I told him at that time I would think the matter over and he asked me to. We became engaged about November fifth, 1918.

"We decided we should be married late that Fall, and spend the Winter in the south. I was busy getting my clothes ready, also doing fancy work.

TRIED ON DIAMOND RING.

"The night before Christmas he came to my home, after going to the theatre. He took me on his knee and tried on the diamond ring. It was too large and he took one of mine to have the size corrected.

"During the Summer we made our plans to go to the city, purchase what I needed and then continue South for the Winter. The defendant purchased his wedding suit, a suit of black clothes."

Just before Christmas, the witness testified, she accidentally took down a receiver, thinking it was her call, and heard Charlie making dates with another woman.

"I called him later," she testified, "and asked him about it and he said I should not be 'rubbering.' I told him it was by mistake. One word led to another, and he wanted me to give up his ring.

"I refused and he said he was all done with me. I told him he had better think the matter over.

"I did not see him again until some time in February, as I went on a visit, owing to a heavy storm I did not get back home.

HEARD OF MARRIAGE.

"The witness said she immediately called Leath on the telephone and invited him to come in and he said he could not that night, but would soon. On Monday she heard of his marriage to Miss Ginn.

The witness testified that she was ready to marry the defendant and had never released him from their engagement. He was married February 28, 1920.

REV. P. J. O'DONNELL IS GIVEN CHECK FOR $2,500

Michael J. Ryan of Philadelphia, former head of the United Irish League of America and one of the American envoys who investigated conditions in Ireland, told 1,000 persons in Paul Revere Hall, Mechanics Building, that the Rev. O'Donnell received a check for $2,500. He declared that there will be no cessation of war until Ireland is free and every Irishman killed. Every parish in the archdiocese was represented.

WOOL DEALERS DEMAND INCOME TAX CHANGE

Circulars have been sent by the Boston Wool Trade Association to all Massachusetts Congressmen, asking that the income tax law be amended before December 15 to save dealers further heavy losses as a result of the drop in the wool market. The circular declares the law requires inventories to be taken at cost or market value, whereas it should be fixed to apply on income actually received from the sale of goods.

You Just Try NR For That Indigestion

Get your organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination working in harmony and watch your trouble disappear. NR does it or money back.

One Day's Test Proves NR Best

The stomach only partly digests the food we eat. The process is finished in the intestines where the food is mixed with bile from the liver.

It must be plain to any sensible person who realizes this, that the stomach, liver and bowels must work in harmony if digestive troubles are to be avoided or overcome.

This fact also explains why sufferers from indigestion, also suffer more or less from headaches, biliousness and constipation.

If you are one of the many unfortunate persons who cannot eat without suffering afterward, if you are constipated, have bilious spells, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, variable appetite, are nervous, losing energy and feel your health slipping away, take this advice and get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) right today and start taking it.

Give it a trial for a week or two and just see how much better you feel. See how quickly your sluggish bowels will become as regular as clock work, how your coated tongue clears up and your good, old-time appetite returns. See how splendidly your food will digest and how your energy, "pep" and "ginger" revive. Just try it.

You take no risk whatever for Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is only 25c a box, enough to last twenty-five days, and it must help and benefit you to your entire satisfaction or money returned.

Five million boxes are used every year,—one million NR Tablets are taken by fifty people every day—that's the best proof of its merits. Nature's Remedy is the best and safest thing you can take for sourness, constipation, biliousness and similar complaints. It's mild, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

A HOLIDAY EVENT
Xmas Good Housekeeping is out today!

I've edited Good Housekeeping a good many years now. And in that time, there have been, I think, some very interesting Christmas numbers. But this one—the one that has just come out—is the best of them all. It is the result of plans that started a whole year ago; it is a combination of the best features contributed by the biggest figures in American magazine making. I hope you will like it.

STEEL ISSUES ARE ACTIVE

Prices Work Downward During the Morning; Rails and Oils in Recessional

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were weak in New York at noon, prices being close to the lowest level reached during the forenoon. The market was quiet on the decline, first hour trading was on a large scale, transactions totaling about 250,000 shares. Texas & Pacific weakened late in the morning, receding more than three points.

Mexican Petroleum showed the largest loss among oils. Southern Pacific was the weakest as well as the most active rail. Steels remained trong. Coppers were fractionally lower. The most active stocks were steels. After them came rails and oils. All were weak as groups. Call money opened at 6 per cent. The early quotation on demand sterling was $3.48¼, off 1¾ cents.

IRREGULAR AT OPENING.

The price movement was irregular at the opening, but the tone was weak and recessions were immediately in order. By the end of fifteen minutes the market had sagged. The downward course was held during half an hour before halting. Most early changes were small, but substantial losses were sustained in Atlantic Gulf, Crucible and United Fruit. New Haven advanced. It began with more than a point gain, but did not sell as high again during the first hour. There was no especial feature to trading. The most active issues were oils, steels and rails, but there was more business than usual in shipping shares. The market had an active start, but was reversed by the usual restraints of a holiday eve.

BEARS STILL STUBBORN.

Although not so aggressive in making commitments, the bear element remained stubborn in its attitude. Easier money, it claims, is more than offset by business conditions and the improvement in foreign exchange has failed to impress this one much. It takes the view that rates are too far below normal to warrant expectation of much foreign trade. American products for a long time. By mid-morning the market was still weak and had become quiet. Largest first-hour losses were around four points. But not many issues had receded more than one. There appears to be plenty of money on hand for stock market loans. It is said that as much as $30,000,000 was available on the exchange floor at one time yesterday.

$7,000,000 COMPANY TO BUY MOTORS STOCK

New York, Nov. 24.—Pierre S. Du Pont has announced the incorporation in Delaware of the Du Pont Securities Corp., with an authorized capital of $7,000,000 of cumulative preferred stock and 100,000 shares of no par value common stock, for the purpose of acquiring shares of General Motors Corporation common stock from W. C. Durant.

Record Gasoline Production

September established a high record for gasoline production, the daily refinery output for the month being 15,000,000 gallons. Production for the first nine months of this year totaled 3,500,000,000 gallons as compared with 2,900,000,000 gallons during the corresponding 1919 period.

Steel Production Decreasing

Steel production is decreasing and the industry is now operating at but 69 per cent. of capacity. It may curtail to 40 per cent. before the year ends, it is said. This was made at low prices. U. S. Steel is able to operate at 40 per cent.

Pennsylvania Stockholders

On November 1 holders of Pennsylvania Railroad stock numbered 139,580, a gain of 7,210 in October and of 16,079 in a year. Women hold 31.29 per cent. of the road's stock.

New York Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, Nov. 24.—The sub-treasury gained $721,000 from the banks on Tuesday, reducing the cash net loss since Friday to $3,908,000.

COPPERS STEADY IN BOSTON

Rails Improve and Packing Issues Advance; Curb Quiet on Its Decline

While the Boston market was rather strong at the start it did not maintain this improved tone long and before the morning had relapsed had become irregular. New Haven, Dayton & Maine common advanced. The former a fraction and the latter a point. But Boston & Maine's "A" issue was off a point. Packing stocks rallied higher and there was no definite trend to coppers. Point gains were made by Nipissing Magnesite, Calumet & Arizona, Calumet & Hecla, St. Mary's and Edison. United Drug receded 2¾ on its first sale and Quincy a point.

Among fractionally higher stocks were Boston Elevated, Calumet & Arizona, North Butte, United Shoe, National Leather and Hathaway. Small losses were sustained in the Copper Range, East Butte, Isle Royale, Carson Hill, Orpheum and Utah Apex. United Fruit advanced 1 point to 110 on its initial transaction, but lost it all on the second sale.

CURB MARKET WEAKENED.

The Curb market was strong and active at the start, but weakened soon and grew irregular at noon. Early leaders were Mutual, Texas and Verde Mines. Among issues to advance at the opening were Chino, Divide, Bagdad, Black Hawk, Eureka, Hecla Divide, Homa, Merrimac, Development, Mayflower & Clark and Verde Mines. Those to show initial losses were Crystal, Imperial, Mutual and Mexico Oil.

Sale of an hour Mutual was off 5 cents at 40 cents. Texas sold to Top 1 cent at 11 cents and Boston & Montana 2 cents at 42 cents. Texas was up 1½ cents at 11 cents. Verde Mines 3 cents at 48 cents and Hecla Divide 4 cents at 10 cents. Eureka had lost its gain.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES

NEW ENGLAND ROADS NEED MORE REVENUE

When counsel for New England roads appeared before the Interstate Commerce Commission this week they reported that for eight months ending August 31 the actual deficit in net railway operating income of the roads, exclusive of the Grand Trunk, a part of New York Central system, was $23,674,676 and that estimates for the year 1920 would show a railway operating income of about $18,000,000, or $40,000,000 less than net railway operating income required by the transportation act to show 6 per cent. on the value of the property. This would be $22,000,000 less than amount required to meet fixed charges.

"Fixed charges must be met or receiverships will inevitably follow," it is said.

BETTER TIMES AHEAD, SAYS BANKER FORGAN

James B. Forgan, chairman of the First National Bank of Chicago, and a financial authority in the West, expects business revival in the spring.

"In a few months readjustment will be complete and business activities will be on the upward trend again. We are passing through a trying period.

"Eastern bankers insist every one must bear his share of the unavoidable losses incident to deflation and a generally lower level of prices. But they are optimistic that readjustment will not cost heavily in the way of failures."

Germans Plan U. S. Plants

According to a leading Berlin newspaper preparations have been made by the German Aniline Syndicate to erect nitrogen plants in the United States and Japan, and directors of the syndicate have opened negotiations with these governments.

Coke Down; Ovens Close

Owing to the decline in the price of coke, which ranged last week at Uniontown from $8.25 to $9, more than 400 ovens in the Connellsville region have been allowed to "blow out." Producers said they would make no more sales below $12.

TREASURY STILL REFUSES MORE LOANS TO FARMERS

Washington, Nov. 24.—In the face of a threatened crisis in the united farm organizations of the country, and the certainty that these organizations will unite in the strength of the southern and Middle Western Congressmen to assail the policy of the Federal Reserve Board in refusing to make special provisions for loans to farmers, treasury officials today stood firmly by their announced policy that no further loans can be made at this time.

Secretary of the Treasury Houston recently told delegates of farmers' organizations that the Federal Reserve Board is already loaned up to the limit of its powers, and could make no special provisions for farmers. A similar view was expressed by W. P. G. Harding, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

RAILROADS BEAT RECORD IN FREIGHT CARRYING

Washington, Nov. 24.—More freight was moved by Class one railroads during the month of September than in any month transported in a single month either during government control or during the pre-war period, according to statistics just compiled by the bureau of railway economics. The net ton mileage, which means the number of tons of freight multiplied by the number of miles they were carried, was 40,958,842,000 for the month. This was 1,708,992,000 less than the amount for August, but was 561,535,000 greater than the net ton miles for July, which was greater than any month previously reported.

Zinc Ore Sells Lower

There was another sensational decline in zinc ore prices in the Joplin market last week, it is said, falling to $31 to $35 a ton. Lead dropped $5 to $55. Mills and mines are being closed as a preparation for suspension of this mining industry.

City and County Loans

Worcester, Mass., has awarded a temporary loan of $300,000 dated November 24, and payable April 18, 1921, at Harris, Forbes & Co. at 5.20 per cent.

Medford, Mass., has sold to Grafton & Co. and associates $100,000 4½ per cent. bonds, $100,000 $200,000 6 per cent. Mountain River Bridge notes, dated December 1, 1920, and payable in one year.

Attleboro, Mass., has awarded a temporary loan of $50,000 in anticipation of revenue, dated November 24, and payable June 23, 1921, to First National Bank of Attleboro, at 5.35 per cent.

Millbury, Mass., has awarded $112,000 tuberculosis hospital, registered bonds, dated December 1, 1920, and payable December 1, 1921, to J. S. Bache & Co. at 5.34 per cent.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, Nov. 24.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 10 points on October to a decline of 1 to 22 points on other months. There was not much feature to trading. Yesterday's big covering movement seemed to have eliminated most of the short interests and, while Liverpool was steady at 1 point decline, the local market showed independent strength. Trade buying was the most weakening on the call, bears showing on about 300 lots. Prices fluctuated around the start and prices fell about 25 points on the first night's close. Opening prices were: December, 18.60; January, 18.40; March, 18.40; May, 18.25; July, 18.15; October, 15.95.

One Hundred Investment Bargains in Railroad Bonds

In a circular prepared by one of the greatest bond authorities in this country, which we have just had printed, the bond situation is not only thoroughly covered, but there is a list of one hundred bargains in high grade railroad bonds yielding as high as

Ten Per Cent

Among this list are many unusual investment opportunities, and inasmuch as underlying factors are now favorable to a rising bond prices, a selection of these bonds would unquestionably result in excellent market profits, in addition to an attractive income return.

The circular will be sent without obligation, together with a booklet describing a convenient method of purchasing the bonds.

Barber Gives Recipe for Gray Hair

Mr. A. E. O'Brien, who has been a barber in New York City for many years, made the following statement: "Gray, streaked or faded hair can be immediately made black, brown or light brown, whichever shade you desire, by the use of the following remedy that you can make at home:

"Merely get a box of Orlex powder at any drug store. It costs very little and no extras to buy. Dissolve it in 2 oz. of distilled or rain water and comb it through the hair. Full directions for use and a gold bond guarantee seem in each box. One box will last you for months.

"It is safe, does not rub off, is not sticky or gummy and cleans the hair fluffy. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."—Advertisement.

The Truth About Eczema and Piles

Thousands and thousands of people, says Peterson of Buffalo, are learning every week that one 35 cent box of Peterson's Ointment will abolish eczema and harsh itch, and the grateful letters I receive every day are worth more to me than money.

"I had eczema for many years on my head and could not get anything to stop the agony. I saw your ad and got one box, and I owe you many thanks for the good it has done me. There isn't a blotch on my head now and I couldn't help but think Peterson for the healing is great."—Miss Mary Hill, 420 Third Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I have had itching piles for 15 years and Peterson's is the only ointment that relieves me, besides the piles seem to have gone."—A. B. Huger, 1127 Washington Avenue, Racine, Wis.

WOMAN SUFFERED IN SILENCE

Made Believe She Was Well

A woman of New Auburn, Maine, writes: "There must be lots of women who feel as I did. I suffered almost many times on account of my pride but now I know that a good laxative is essential to good health. I pretended I was all right when I wasn't. I had terrible pains, was 'grouchy' and my backaches almost filled me with pain, and worst of all, I had a sallow, unbecoming complexion which was not helped by face powders. Why didn't I try to cure myself, rather than pretend? After taking Dr. True's Elixir I now know that a laxative was what I needed. Dr. True's Elixir is mild and pleasant to take, and works just right for me. My complexion cleared up—bright and rosy—blemishes vanished, and everyone remarked how much better I looked."—Mrs. E. J. B. (New Auburn, Me.)

Dr. True's Elixir will help you, too; don't pretend any longer.—Advertisement.

'JAPS INFERIOR TO DOUGHBOYS'

Holliston Soldier, in March Through Siberia, Would Let Russia Alone

Holliston, Nov. 24.—"We doughboys who served alongside the Japanese soldiers in Siberia are not worrying about war with Japan, whatever the rest of the country may be doing.

"We outshot the crack Jap troops on the range; we outhiked them on the march; and we outgamed them throughout the whole Siberian business, and they know it.

"We know that there are a few Japanese soldiers at least that are sincerely glad that it's not a war with the United States."

So says Harry Marcus of this town, who went from here to "do up these Holsheviki" and returned personally long enough to sympathize with the struggle for liberty.

He served with Colonel Morrow's famous 27th Infantry in Siberia from the middle of 1919 to early in this year, when they were among the last troops to be shipped home.

Marcus acted as interpreter among the mixed races of soldiers. He knew the unhappy Russian people, and Marcus has just returned on furlough with a hearty belief in letting Russia solve its own problems and a still heartier disgust for the Japs and the British.

SIMPLE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calonite powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any trace whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Using and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The calonite powder and the water easily dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores clean and pure and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with blackheads or unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.—Advertisement.

THE FARMER

An Aspiration of Thanksgiving

Charles Fleischer

Leader The Sunday Commons, Boston

THE Farmer is the true type of the Human Creator.

He says, "Let there be!"—and there is.

The harvest is fruit of his will and his work.

To him who meets the first of human needs—the need for food—be thanks and praise!

Our thanksgiving is to the Farmer, the glad carrier of the classic curse: that man shall earn his bread by the sweat of his brow.

Of all the forms and phases of "culture," the most serviceable to man is Agriculture.

Blessings upon him who tills the soil and with wisdom woos Nature, winning from her willing hand the sustenance which feeds us all and makes us, by these material means, partakers of the universal life!

For our food is not gross. It throbs with the creative warmth of the everlasting fires ∞ It brings to our beings the vitalizing thrill of the central Sun.

In the highest sense, Food is Life—as well as the means to More Life.

And still more thanks to the Farmer! He is the symbol of man's oneness with Nature.

The lavish horn of Autumn pictures her potential fertility, indeed ∞ But also man blows therewith a blast of triumph. The harvest proclaims man's success in making himself at home on earth—the while he knows himself to be both servant and master of the elemental forces with which he is at one.

Thanks, thanks to thee, O Farmer!—thou who art the primal workman and provider!

The wholesome fruit of thy holy toil is not visible food alone, but thought for the mind and inspiration to the soul

RILEY FUND TO AID BEREAVED

District Attorney Tufts at Head of List for Slain Officer's Family

A fund for the widow and child of Patrolman Thomas F. Riley of the Cambridge department, who died from a bullet said to have been fired by Rocco Scicchitano of that city, was suggested today by District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts, who headed the list with $25.

In a letter to the Boston American, District Attorney Tufts pointed out that the patrolman was killed in the performance of his duty, and suggested that the public come to the aid of his family.

Patrolman Riley died at the Cambridge Municipal Hospital from a bullet fired when he ordered a party of six roisterers to be quiet at School and Harrison street, Cambridge, Sunday. Scicchitano, who lives on Harrison street, was arrested, and, according to the police, admitted the shooting.

The district attorney's letter follows:

Editor Boston American:

I desire to call your attention to the fact that Patrolman Thomas P. Riley, a member of the police department of Cambridge, was killed while in the performance of his duty early in the morning of Sunday, November 21, 1920. He was shot by a person now under arrest.

I know that you feel as I do, that the public should stand solidly back of police officers in the proper performance of their duty, and I know that your sympathy will go out to the widow and child of the unfortunate officer.

I shall be pleased to head a list of subscribers to their relief and to that end I am enclosing herein a check for $25.

Slain Officer Riley Honored at Funeral

City officials and police officers of Cambridge attended the funeral today of Patrolman Thomas P. Riley, Central square station, who died as the result of bullet wounds received in suppressing a disturbance in Cambridge Sunday night. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at the Sacred Heart Church, Mt. Auburn, with Rev. Richard Splain as celebrant, Rev. Richard Rogers as deacon and Rev. William O'Connor as subdeacon.

A platoon of policemen was led by Lieutenant Joseph McCorrey, and a squad of about fifty others was headed by Sergeant William Curtin of the North Cambridge station and Sergeant Joseph Shannon of the Central square station. Mayor Quinn, Chief of Police John J. Mellride and Captain James E. Murray of the Central square station were among those in attendance.

There were many floral tributes, Burial was in St. Paul's Cemetery, Arlington.

The union adopted a resolution condemning the convict labor in this State. Philip J. Byrne of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union of Boston spoke.

Baby Girls Pray for Mother's Return

Two baby girls are praying for the return of their mother, who disappeared from home last June and has not been heard from since. Their aunt, Mrs. D. M. Bigelow of No. 371 Lincoln street, Marlboro, has written to the Boston American, asking this paper to aid her in tracing the missing sister.

"The left home just after setting up from a sick bed," says Mrs. Bigelow, who adds that in all probability that may be the unsettled her sister's mind and caused her to stray away.

"At present the little girls are both well and everything will be all right if my sister will only come back to them," adds Mrs. Bigelow.

The missing woman is described about five feet tall with dark hair and eyes.

HARDING WON BY 404,462 HERE

2.75 Beer Bill Carried by 11,064, Debs Got 32,267; 1,028,676 Voted

The 2.75 beer bill carried by 11,064. Harding's official landslide plurality was 404,462 and Eugene V. Debs received 32,267 votes, more than double the Socialist vote polled in Massachusetts in recent years.

The figures were made public today when the Governor's Council completed the official tabulation in record time.

One of the outstanding announcements was that 1,028,676 Massachusetts men and women went to the polls and deposited their ballots, surpassing the most optimistic predictions and to the age of the vote.

The beer vote figures show that with the exception of two votes, the 2.75 referendum carried only three districts, the fourteen counties in Suffolk County, with its tremendous Boston vote, put it over with a plurality almost here in excess of 34,000. The vote by counties on the beer referendum was:

County	Yes	No
Barnstable	1,849	1,452
Berkshire	7,000	5,000
Bristol	18,000	20,000
Dukes	1,000	1,000
Essex	28,000	27,000
Franklin	3,000	2,000
Hampden	14,000	11,000
Hampshire	4,000	3,000
Middlesex	39,000	32,000
Nantucket	300	300
Norfolk	21,000	17,000
Plymouth	7,000	6,000
Suffolk	70,000	35,000
Worcester	13,000	13,000
Totals	167,254	151,153

SUBMITTED TO VOTERS.

In presenting the final vote, the "Yeses" having received a majority as well as an affirmative vote in excess of 10 per cent. of the entire vote cast, the issue question will be submitted to the cities and towns of the State at their next regular election, but the vote will be of no avail in producing anything in excess of one-half of 1 per cent., the alcoholic content prescribed by the Volstead act under the national constitutional amendment.

About 155,000 men and women abstained from voting on the question and the total "Yes" and "No" vote was about 84,000 less than the total vote cast for Harding and Cox.

The Massachusetts vote for President was:

Harding	681,153
Cox	276,691
	404,462

The Socialist-Labor candidate for President received 1,883.

Governor Channing H. Cox received a plurality of 204,319 over Senator John Jackson Walsh, the Democratic candidate. Congressman Alvan T. Fuller's official plurality for Lieutenant-Governor was 233,983, similar of the Republican winners, beaten of the independent candidacy of Robert M. Washburn.

Secretary of the Commonwealth Frederic W. Cook of Somerville led the Republican State candidates with a plurality of 245,725, followed by State Treasurer James Jackson of Westwood, with a load of 242,849 and Auditor Building Commissioner Patrick O'Hearn of Boston, the Democratic nominee, George Allen Johnson, running as a "Citizen" candidate for State Treasurer, polled only 22,484 votes.

State Auditor Alonzo B. Cook's plurality was 240,618 and Attorney-General J. Weston Allen 241,765.

Mrs. Alice M. Cram of Boston, the Democratic candidate for Secretary, and the first woman to be nominated for State office by either of the two dominant parties, was indorsed by 263,160 men and women. She received more votes than Washburn and Johnson, candidates for Secretary of State and candidates for Lieutenant-Governor and candidates for Lieutenant-Governor and Attorney-General.

The vote for Governor was
Channing H. Cox (R.)	815,839
Walsh (D.)	611,520
Scattering	1,317
For Lieutenant-Governor was
Alvan T. Fuller	813,112
Joseph Walker (D.)	579,129
Robert H. Wasgatt (L.)	13,486
Scattering	1,291
Frederick W. Cook (R.)	829,705
Patrick O'Hearn (D.)	583,960
For State Treasurer
James Jackson	809,613
Patrick O'Hearn (D.)	231,440
George Allen Johnson (C.)	22,484
For State Auditor
Alonzo B. Cook (R.)	811,490
Alvin E. Richardson (D.)	265,180
For Attorney-General
J. Weston Allen (R.)	811,765
Michael F. Sullivan (D.)	270,001

TAGUE'S PLURALITY 540.

With the exception of Speaker Frederick H. Gillett, who was unopposed for re-election, Congressman Frederick W. Dallinger of Cambridge led all the congressmen with a plurality of 41,482. He received 54,248 votes, against Winfield S. Tague of Winchester, Democratic, who got 13,-134.

Congressman John Jacob Rogers received an even 24,000 plurality and Congressman Ludlow was given a lead of nearly 22,000 in the Sixth District.

Congressman Tague's official victory in the Tenth District is 540, the vote being: Tague, 11,330; Maguire, 12,885.

Senator Walter E. Melanson of Fall River received 13,858 of the 13,851 votes in his district, and Senator John M. Gibbs of Waltham received all but one of the 14,749 in his district, but Senator Andrew A. Casassa of Revere got all but one in his district, and the one candidate who was elected by acclamation was former Mayor John A. Sullivan of Springfield, who was elected trustee of probate and insolvency for Hampden County. He received all but 14,427 votes cast. The records show that 24,958 people went to the polls and did not vote for any of the candidates for President.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR'S CANAL SPEECH RESENTED

Washington, Nov. 24.—"If I were President of the United States I would notify the British government that the activities of its ambassador in this country in seeking to stir up sentiment against Americanizing the Panama Canal violated Senator Jones of Washington, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee.

Senator Jones was aroused by statements made by the British ambassador in his speech last week before the New York Chamber of Commerce in which he advocated letting the question of canal tolls by America remain aloof.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them, to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bad breath, constipation and the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.—Adv.

Do Monkey Glands Bring Health?

Why Run-Down Anaemic Men and Women Have Run-Down Glands

According to the newspaper clippings reproduced here, a half alive old man of seventy-two says he has become as young and healthy as he was a score or more years ago after eating a few capsules containing monkey glands.

Were this the sole gland success that has been reported, it might mean little more than a joke. But similar remarkable cases of restored health and strength, which have recently been published in the press. Scarcely a week goes by without some example of this new kind of treatment being printed in the leading newspapers of the country.

And now it seems that the gland extracts which are most often used are not necessarily those which come from monkeys. In fact many prefer the gland extracts of sheep and cattle when prescribed in tablet form.

It should not be supposed either that gland extracts are effective only with old people. For they are being used extensively by young men and women who are anaemic, run-down, nervous, thin, pale, weak, with results that are unusual. As a tonic and strength builder gland extracts, it would seem, have their greatest use.

The reason appears to be perfectly simple. According to those who have given this new treatment great thought, our health depends largely on ductless glands, which govern the building-up of our cells is slowed down and we become weak and anaemic and, in short, run-down.

Gland extracts from animals may then be used to supply the very substance which the glands have failed to produce. And the result is that the cause of the run-down conditions is attacked. This idea of using animal extracts is not in itself new. For six, which has been used for years in indigestion, comes from the stomach of an animal.

While it is seen almost too good to be true there have been reports of people who say they have almost doubled their strength and endurance by this method. And the popularity of results are said to be felt in the first few days. In fact it would almost seem as though there was at last a practical method of using this new gland discovery. Gland extracts from sheep and cattle in combination with peptonate iron from calcium glycerophosphate and nux vomica, well known tonics, can now be purchased at any drug store under the name of Glandex compound.

Note—Glandex compound is prepared under the direction of the Glandex Company, 244 West 29th Street, New York, and is guaranteed to bring satisfactory benefit in 10 days or money refunded, so it can be taken with full confidence of results or no cost.

Gland Capsules give Man of 72 the Health of Youth

Robert George Laws, seventy-two, a retired London broker who arrived here recently on the Lusitania, claims that his health and strength were recently restored after years of illness by the use of capsules made up of monkey's gland extract.

He asserts fifty capsules made from the prescription of a Professor whose intestinal gland extract he discovered the medical world not long ago, have added years to his life.

Laws appears to be about forty and possesses unusual strength. He asserts the administration of the monkey's glands restored his health after ten years' illness.

The Best Support in the World For a Rupture Is the Human Hand

The WORST Support Ever Devised, Is a Hard, Unyielding Knob, or Pad, Pressed Into the Rupture by a Steel Spring—Thereby Preventing Nature From EVER Having a Chance to Bring About a Healing of the Parts.

The Brooks Appliance most closely resembles the human hand as a rupture support. You will notice the first moment you put on a Brooks Appliance, the pliable, flesh like touch of the velvet finished rubber, and it will take only this first experience of comfort and security to make you decide—"This is what I want."

For the benefit of our readers we take pleasure in publishing the Brooks offer to save all who are ruptured from wearing painful makeshift trusses that do not cure.

No man or woman ever can look and feel his or her best while suffering the torment, pain and discomfort of rupture.

Every day that you suffer from rupture—every hour of truss torture that you endure—after you read this page is your own fault.

For many years we have been telling you that no makeshift truss will ever help you. We have told you about the harm ill-fitting trusses are doing. We have told you that the only truly comfortable, sanitary and scientific device for holding rupture is the Brooks Rupture Appliance.

Now we offer to prove it to you, entirely at our risk. We will send you a Brooks Rupture Appliance on trial. If you really want to be rid of your rupture fill out the coupon below and mail it today.

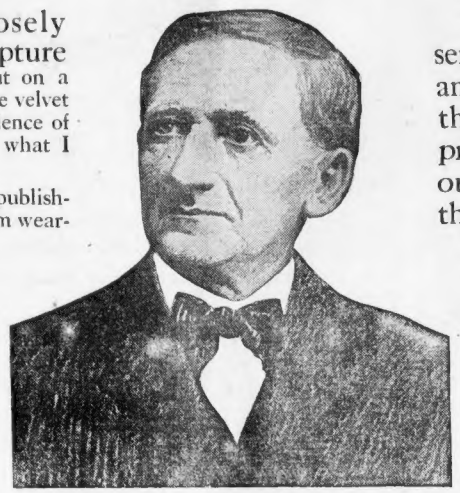
Instead of wearing a steel spring or inflexible harness, try the velvet-soft Brooks Appliance.

Instead of the old hard or stuffed pad, use the soft automatic rubber air-cushion of a Brooks Appliance.

The Brooks Appliance clings to you without force and you are hardly conscious of its presence. But above all else, it HOLDS always.

Within an hour after you receive the Brooks Appliance, if you take advantage of this remarkable trial offer, you will throw away your truss.

Many hundreds of physicians and surgeons recommend the Brooks Appliance and condemn makeshift trusses as more harmful and dangerous than any other method of retaining and treating rupture. Thousands of people have written us testifying to the amazing results they have secured from this great invention. Many of these people live right in your vicinity and we will be glad to send you copies of their thankful letters if you will ask for them when you write.



A Portrait Done in Charcoal by Herman Pfeifer, From a Photograph of Mr. C. E. Brooks, Inventor of the Appliance and Founder of the Brooks Appliance Co.

Men, Women and Children Find the Brooks Appliance Equally Effective

No matter if your rupture is old and severe or only recently developed, no matter if you are young or old, you should not fail to profit by this No-Risk Trial Offer.

No other rupture support, truss, lock, device, pad or plaster is offered to the public under so broad a guarantee of satisfaction.

The Brooks Appliance Has Freed Thousands of Men, Women and Children From Rupture—Without Pain, Operation, or Loss of Time.

The Brooks Appliance Co. gladly sends their remarkable patented Appliance ON TRIAL to prove that it holds the rupture back, keeps it in place, prevents its coming down or slipping out and finally assists nature to heal up the rupture.

Ten Reasons Why You Should Accept This Offer

1. It is absolutely the only Appliance embodying the principles that inventors have sought after for years.
2. The Appliance for retaining the rupture cannot be thrown out of position.
3. Being an air cushion of soft rubber it clings closely to the body yet never blisters or causes irritation.
4. Unlike ordinary so-called pads, it is not cumbersome or ungainly.
5. It is small, soft and pliable, and positively cannot be detected through the clothing.
6. The soft, pliable bands do not give the unpleasant sensation of wearing a harness.
7. Nothing to get foul; it can be washed without any injury.
8. There are no metal springs in the Appliance to torture one by cutting and bruising the flesh.
9. All materials are the very best that money can buy, making it a durable and safe Appliance to wear.
10. We guarantee your comfort at all times and in all positions, and sell every appliance with this positive understanding.

Over 715,000 People Have Accepted This Offer. Why Not You?

Doesn't that prove that the Brooks Appliance is not an experiment but a positive success—that it does all we claim for it? Among these 715,000 men, women and children there must be hundreds whose condition was identical with yours. Can you afford not to investigate and satisfy yourself when it costs you nothing to prove what the Brooks Appliance will do for you?

This wonderful device is a triumph of scientific and mechanical genius, the outcome of more than 30 years' experience and the results accomplished by its use are little short of miraculous.

When you try a Brooks Appliance you will notice instantly how very much this support resembles the touch and clinging pressure of a human hand.

Send the coupon NOW for further description of the Appliance and for our FREE, NO RISK, TRIAL PLAN.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

RAY DENIES AUTO THEFT CHARGES

City Councillor, Indicted for Receiving Stolen Cars, Protests His Innocence

Benjamin B. Ray, Fourth Ward member of the City Council of Lynn, indicted on ten counts charging receiving stolen automobiles, took the stand today on his own behalf, before Judge Henry F. Lummus in District Court at Lynn, and steadfastly protested his innocence.

He denied every allegation made against him by young Thomas F. St. George, Jr., of Somerville, whose story was that in the Summer of 1919 he delivered to Ray seven cars. The latter, St. George testified, paid him $100 for a Ford and $200 for a Buick and in every case took back $25 as "commission" for selling the car to someone else.

"I never bought ten cars from St. George," said Ray. "I never bought one car from him. I never talked to him or received a telephone call from him. I never saw him but once when he came to my garage in Mt. Vernon street with a car he wanted to sell. I did not buy it.

"Aren't you in the market for cars?" he asked me, and I said, 'Yes, I am, but only when they are O.K.'

St. George has completed about fourteen months of a two-year sentence in the East Cambridge House of Correction for the larceny of automobiles here.

The "Ray case" has been one of the sensations of the political year in Lynn, where until two weeks ago when he withdrew his name—Ray was a candidate for renomination in the primaries held yesterday.

In answer to questions by his attorney, William Sisk, Ray denied St. George's story that he and Ray went together to a barn owned by Park Commissioner Joseph P. Connolly in Hollingsworth street, where they stored one of the cars St. George says Ray bought from him.

Park Commissioner Connolly took the stand to say that he recalled that such a car was stored in the barn at 11 o'clock at night. He did not see the man who stored it. All he could remember was that "somebody" called him up to ask his permission, and he said, "Yes, sure." Connolly is a grocer.

Chief Police Inspector William Kane testified that one of the stolen Buicks referred to in the story told by St. George was found in the Hollingsworth street garage.

MAYOR OF LYNN ON MOVIES

Absolves Strand Theatre Manager of Blame in Production of 'Body and Souls'

Allen B. Newhall, manager of the Strand Theatre, Lynn, has received the following letter from Mayor Walter H. Cramer, recording his attitude on the motion picture programs that are being exhibited in Lynn:

"In view of the fact that most of the allegations in a Boston newspaper of Saturday morning regarding the motion picture, 'Body and Souls,' exhibited at the Strand Theatre on Thursday and Friday, are absolutely false, and that the rest of the allegations are trivial at best, I write you to say that I have no complaint to make of your attitude in this matter.

"As soon as you became aware through me that the picture was offensive to any considerable number of people, you voluntarily had it taken off. Inasmuch as I had never seen this picture, having been away when it was first shown, I could ask no more of you.

"I do criticise most severely, however, the summary action of the police but promote State censorship, which I believe to be unwise. Such pictures should be stopped at their source.

"Your theatre, in common with all others in Lynn, has always been anxious to refrain from exhibiting pictures objected to by members of our local censorship committee, and as long as this spirit continues to exist among the managers of our theatres, I can find no local cause for complaint.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough syrup. Easily and quickly prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Advertisement.

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

Baby Smothered to Death by Pet Cat

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 24.—A pet cat is held responsible today for the death of the seven months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Kastaler of Ignacio Bay, near here. The infant had been placed in its crib on the porch. Later the mother discovered a big cat, a pet of the family, curled up asleep on the baby's chest. The baby was lifeless. Physicians say the infant had been suffocated by the pressure of the cat's weight against its lungs.

TRAIL SUSPECTS IN SLAYING

'Blonde' and Male Companions Leave Auto of Slain Man in Wheeling, W. Va.

By International News Service.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 24—Early today the two men and the "pretty blonde" who left an automobile belonging to Henry W. Pierce, murdered Parkersburg business man, in a garage here were still at large.

The car and auto left at the garage to be repaired. When W. D. Floyd, in charge of the garage, saw the bullet-ridden automobile he notified the police of the two men and the girl who had left it to prevent being held without examination.

Floyd says the dress of the automobile bandit at the garage he recognized as that of a New York battery, he declared, saying the car would be called for.

Plain clothes men interrogated all of the suspicious persons described by the garage men, but the two men escaped unseen and the police have no further clues.

Accordingly, it is likely the parties who occupied the car when it was found will be allowed to leave the city at large.

ANGLO - FRENCH BREACH WIDENS

Relations Strained to a Degree Unequalled Since World War

Paris, Nov. 24—Despite official statements from both sides, Anglo-French relations are again strained to a degree unequalled since the war and leading French statesmen and writers are making no attempt to conceal their feelings towards the English government.

The three chief issues are German disarmament, the allied attitude towards Soviet Russia and the disposition of Turkish territory.

Former President Poincare in an open letter declares if England continues to urge France to further revisions of the treaty of Versailles in favor of Germany, England herself should return the surrendered fleet and the former German colonies.

M Poincare's letter was addressed to an English editor who had asked him to take his influence to obtain for Germany an amelioration of the treaty terms. The former President charges the English are taking advantage of the election result in America and American opposition to the League of Nations to ask France to make concessions of the principal points of the treaty.

Thus, charges M. Renault, over the protests of ex-Premier Clemenceau, President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George forced a plebiscite in Upper Silesia instead of attributing the territory to Poland.

Camel CIGARETTES

Peter, here's word from the woods!

Moose Head Lake, Maine.

Certainly slipped on not tipping you that Mr. Bacon invited me to join his shooting party up here. Arrived at his Northeast Carry camp at sunset yesterday. And a riot started before we squared up to the venison steak! Listen, old bull pup—my tale's short!

Bleak Nixon, chief guide, while unpacking, made the terrible discovery that ALL the Camel Cigarette supplies had been swiped in transit! Never heard such a howl as the whole outfit set up! Nixon swore in Indian-plus-Canuck! Just wouldn't be pacified! Bleak's been rooting for Camels since November 1915. Says there never was such smoothness, or refreshing flavor, or mild body in a cigarette as Camels provide! (Pete, Bleak is O.K. on that!) While the row was on what does Nixon do but hop into his canoe and disappear into the depths of the dark, dank night!

About three this morning there was a roar such as no man ever heard in the wild woods! It was Nixon yelling like a double-decked bull moose! That bird had crossed the lake, picked up a trail and beat it to a little way-back store where he got the boss out of bed and made him come across with all the Camels he had! The storekeeper kicked like a handfull of aces—but, Bleak always gets what he goes after! It's the nerve, old tooth! And, now we're all filled with the milk of human kindness and Camel Contentment! We'll get game!

Peter, think of digging up a bunch of Camels in the depths of Maine's densest woods! And, that's the way it is all over the U.S.A! You're never out of luck when you smoke Camels! Peter, old hub, I've spoke—as the Camp Cook puts it!

Back in New York—well,—SOON!!!

your pal Shorty.

MOTOR NEWS and NOTES

ONLY U. S. CARS AT AUTO SHOW

87 Different Makes Allotted Space for Exhibit in New York January 8-15

American made cars through and through, and American made cars only, will be on exhibition at the 21st National Automobile Show which will be held in Grand Central Palace, January 8 to January 15, 1921.

With eighty-seven different manufacturers allotted space, the exposition will be the biggest that has ever been seen in this country. Several new types of cars will be on the floor for the first time, and in all about $30 of the latest models in the motor car world will be exhibited.

Further evidence is being given every year that American made cars are fully equal to the high priced importations. In fact the expositions of recent years prove there is no reason for going abroad for the best in motor vehicles.

There will be improvements noticed in the cars at the coming show, but for the most part these will be of a conservative character. The betterments tend toward efficiency and economy, thus giving a buyer more for his money and at the same time adding to the comforts and convenience of motoring.

No radical changes are expected in body lines, the basic principles of last year proving so popular that they are for the most part being retained. Here and there will be noticed improved hood and windshield designs, and where these have been made they will undoubtedly add to the attractiveness of a car.

BASEBALL MEN TO DRAW UP NEW AGREEMENT

ASK MR. FIXIT

Dear Mr. Fixit: I have a 1920 Ilco model 76. The engine clicks on every revolution, especially on hills, and when giving a lot of gas this click is used. Would like to know cause of trouble. Thanking you in advance. M. S.

Your trouble may be caused by carbon in the cylinder or too much a spark or rear valve tappets may need adjustment. Retarding your spark ought to hold this on going up hills and if it does you can be pretty sure it is caused by carbon.

Dear Mr. Fixit: With much interest we always read your column in the American and if you will settle a little argument between A and B we will appreciate it very much. Here is the idea: A has a habit of using his foot brake when coming out on the curb. He claims it does the same as using the hand brake, that is, it helps to slow down the car and so has a tendency against the engine doing out the clutch, brakes, etc. Who is right, A or B? Thanking you in advance, I beg to remain, H. O. Dexter, N. H.

Automobile drivers often use this method of braking against the motor, as it gives them a perfect control on turns. Theoretically, of course, it is wrong to brake against the force of the motor, but it often does do it in some very good drivers. Would not advise it as a regular practice, however.

Dear Mr. Fixit: Please tell me through your book in which the little bearing has gone through the crank case four times. This bearing is made like a bolt and the bolt which holds it breaks in the centre. Got new bolt and another bolt but no use. Where is my trouble?

Dear Sir: Well, East Jeffrey, N. H. Your trouble is either caused by too fast a crank shaft speed or the case is too soft and the crank shaft which makes it impossible to get this third bearing lined up properly. In all probability you will have to have the crank shaft taken out and examined by an expert and if it cannot be trued up, you will have to get a new one.

Dear Mr. Fixit: Please tell me through your book the gear ratio of the rear axle and transmission gears of a 1920 model car. Also how to remove the steering wheel and the ring of the wheels used. H. E. G., Medford.

The gear ratio you mention varies from 3 to 1 to 5 to 1. The size of the wheels used is considered when making the gear ratio of a car. If you are contemplating putting on larger wheels it would give you more speed on the level and naturally less power, more power on high gear on hills but increase your speed on second gear.

Dear Mr. Fixit: can you offer me any advice as to my car? It is a Hupmobile, 1917. How very light work it starting. Sometimes it takes me long time to start my car and I know that it will not work but after engine gets cold it starts fine. Have changed coil and spark plugs, adjusted carburetor many times, also cleaned gasoline tank, going back at times to the last few weeks. Thanking you in advance for advice. A. M. L., Peabody.

Your hard starting is due to one, or possibly more of several causes. Your trouble is probably evidenced on the cold starting back of the intermittent sloppy which works on the shifting fork inside of the transmission, or the trouble itself is worn and you need a new one. Try putting on a new spring first.

GRANTS TO SELL AT $250 LESS

Martin-Brackett Co. Offers Special Bargains in Latest Models of This Make

By special permission of the manufacturers, the Martin-Brackett Company, Inc., New England distributors of the Grant Six has inaugurated a selling campaign that cannot help but be successful.

While securing special concessions this company was not unmindful of the interests of dealers throughout this territory and there should be great activity among the selling forces of the Grant car.

SELLS AT $250 LESS.

The concession is that the Martin-Brackett Company and its sub-agents can sell the latest Grant model cars at $250 less than factory price until 100 of these cars are sold in this territory. The number of cars that can be sold at that price is limited to 100, and the period of this sale shall not extend over thirty days.

It is not believed, however, by either the factory or the distributors that it will take thirty days to dispose of this special number of cars.

The purpose of this offer is to place the cars in the hands of owners, charging the discount, if such it can be termed, to advertising expense, thereby making the Grant Six more widely popular in New England.

It is a plan that has never been tried and is but one of the several recent illustrations of the determination of the factory managers to place the car on as popular a plane as any car now on the market.

A POPULAR PLAN.

In speaking of this offer recently, Mr. Brackett said: "The real reason for this offer is our determination to make a Grant Six better known and more popular in New England in the shortest possible time. This is the quickest way to bring the Grant to the position of prestige which it should and will hold as soon as people know what car it is."

HANSON MODELS IDEAL FOR N. E.

Holland System Takes Pride in Offering This Smart and Durable Make

The Hollands, who are constant travellers of Massachusetts, Maine and New Hampshire roads, searched for a car built to cope with the very worst road conditions found in a part of the country renowned for its bad roads. The search led to Atlanta, Georgia, where the Hanson Six was attracting the attention of the motor world by its wonderful performance on Southern roads. A thorough investigation convinced them that the Hanson was adapted to New England service.

All over the South autoists were unstinted in their praise of this fine product and the Holland investigators became as enthusiastic over it as the Southerners themselves.

PROUD OF HANSON.

D. E. Holland, president of the Holland System, in a recent statement said: "If the Hanson All Aluminum Six Company did not build its own bodies we would not be the New England distributors, for I know the specifications were the best the world produced."

The Hanson Motor Company, the manufacturer, has much pride in its product and certainly seems justified in doing so as it has incorporated into it not only the units of superiority in motor car building, but numerous features of its own creation which effect a perfect co-ordination of parts. In addition to the Continental, Red Seal 54 H. P. motor, Timkin axles and bearings, Delco starting and ignition, Borg & Beck clutch, selective transmission and irreversible steering gear, the anti-squeak strips between all metal parts of body, frame mudguards, Stewart-Warner vacuum tank which eliminates long pipes, special throttle and spark connections giving immediate and positive control.

SMART AND DURABLE.

E. Ray Williams, manager of the Atlas Truck Department of the Holland System, has been chosen manager of the Hanson. Mr. Williams has been successfully identified with the automobile business since its earliest days. He has had a wide experience in all its branches and predicts a popularity and success for this product in this territory never equalled by any other car. He bases his prediction on the fact that the car will bring in it that the auto world recognizes as supreme and to be found only in the highest priced cars, safety, stability, comfort, safety and durability.

Manager Williams and Mr. Hanson has made for long life and smooth running over the rough roads of the South, will certainly be a hard car for New England autoists who must go to the country over wagon roads to realize to the fullest measure its beauties and pleasures.

NORTHWAY CO. EMPLOYES GIVEN $6,000 IN BONUSES

Employes of the Northway Motors Corporation at Natick, should have a very pleasant Thanksgiving. Yesterday morning, ex-Senator J. F. Cavanaugh, president of the company, distributed among the employes, a stock bonus of approximately $6,000. The distribution was of the common stock of the Northway Motors Corporation, ranging from one to five shares.

Mr. Cavanagh believes in the co-operative plan and is anxious to have every employe a stockholder in the company. It is provided, however, by the company in this distribution, that if for any reason an employe does not wish to keep his stock, the company will take it from him and allow him $12 for each share of bonus stock.

ARMY-NAVY SET FOR BIG GAME

LOW SCORE MAY RULE SATURDAY

Middies Show Great Improvement and Experts Are Upset Over Outcome of Clash

New York, Nov. 24.—No one will be greatly surprised if the Army and Navy play another low score game at the Polo Grounds Saturday.

A month ago the Cadets looked to be the best team by a fair margin. The Middies, it appeared, were slow and were playing indifferent football. But that is all changed.

The Navy came to life in the Princeton game and since that time have been rapidly improving. It is notable that the Navy lost to the Tigers 17 to 0 and then did Yale, losing by 14 to 6. So the experting persons are looking for a real battle when the service teams clash.

Several players will get a lot of attention from their rivals when the Army and Navy elevens clash. One of these players is Walter French of Morristown, N. J., erstwhile Rutgers star and this year one of the best backs in the country.

French is the Army fullback and he is so much better than his running mates in the backfield that he almost is a backfield by himself.

Another player who will come in for a lot of attention is Clyde King, of Des Moines, Ia., and whom all-around athletic ability has been the talk of Annapolis.

Both Army and Navy have been trained in the aerial attack and the game at that has a much better balanced team than in 1919.

JOHNNY CLINTON BEATS JOHNNY ROSE EASILY

Worcester, Nov. 24—Johnny Clinton of New York easily defeated Johnny Rose of St. Paul in ten rounds at the Service Men's Club. Clinton won every round. At times Rose came back strong but Clinton's rights and lefts staggered him.

Scotty Welch of Roxbury won in the third from Tommy Leahy of Worcester in the semi-final, referee stopping the contest. Sailor Byron of Worcester won over Denny Glynn of Roxbury in six rounds and "Silent Mike" of Philadelphia scoped Young Lombardi of Worcester in the fifth round.

PROMINENT NEW YORK YACHTSMAN IS DEAD

Diegel Foremost U. S. Home-Bred Pro

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

Leo Diegel of Chicago earned the right to be classed as America's foremost homebred professional golfer this year.

Diegel's chief claim to top position was his showing in the national open at Toledo, where he finished in a tie for second. With this as background he won enough other events and finished in the money so frequently that he easily took first place among the homebred professionals.

Diegel finished his first year with wonderful rounds at Pinehurst in the amateur-pro, where partnered with Tommy Armour, he won first place and the $500 prize money. Diegel had one round in 71 and three rounds in 72, over the championship number two course.

Diegel has come along with unexpected force, for many professionals predicted that his awkward style would prevent him from reaching a high place in golf. Diegel is far from being the finished golfer he might be, but he gets low scores, especially in tournaments, and low scores count more than perfect swings.

Not Many Star Homebred Golfers

Diegel is much smoother in his action than he was last year and as he is an enthusiastic golfer and a great fighter, he will, in time add finish to his other qualities.

There are not as many first-class homebred golfers in this country as one might expect, considering the growth of the game. In fact, it is likely that a team of ten homebred amateurs could be mustered which would stand an even chance of defeating a team of homebred professionals.

In selecting the professionals for the invasion of Britain next Spring the homebreds should be given careful consideration for the delegation should be as representative as possible of American-bred golfers. With Diegel at the top, Mike Brady, because of his many years of excellent golf, should have second place.

Jack Burke, of St. Paul, the other homebred who tied for second at Toledo, deserves third position. Other homebreds deserving of high mention are Eddie Loos, William Melhorn, George McLean, Charley Hoffner, Tommy Kerrigan and Tommy MacNamary.

Standard Ball Flies Too Far

According to advices from London the new standard ball of not more than 1.62 inches in diameter and 1.62 ounces in weight is the longest driving ball yet made. Abe Mitchell and George Duncan were furnished with some of the standards and Mitchell smashed one 315 yards without help from wind or roll, and Duncan did even better. Both pessimists declared the ball to be the longest driving pellet they had ever hit.

If all golfers find the new ball such marvels for distance the effort of the Royal and Ancient committee and of the U. S. G. A. will have failed, for the idea was to nominate a ball which would not carry such great distances as to make it necessary to rebuild golf courses which proved to be too short for the long flying heavy balls, such as the 50 and 75, which have been the most popular brands in recent seasons.

Francis Ouimet is another star player who has come out against the new two-shot penalty for a ball out of bounds. Ouimet declares the penalty too severe and thinks it will cause many players to resort to irons off the tees to prevent hitting out of bounds. He explores anything which would cause players to give up the long wooden tee shots.

Fred Kennedy, golfball expert for A. G. Spaulding Brothers, will sail for England December 14 to look over the golfball situation on the other side. British professionals have complained that the balls manufactured overe there are not as good as the United States makes, and Kennedy is going to remedy the fault as far as the foreign made Spaulding balls are concerned.

Dry Turf or No Game in the Stadium

A dry field or no game for the Battery and Cadets tomorrow in the Stadium. However, the players of both teams are keeping busy practicing formations and trick plays with which to fool their opponents in event of the game being pulled off.

If the Stadium does not offer a good surface for the contest the two teams will get together Saturday.

FALL RIVER BOY TO LEAD YALE

Malcolm Aldrich One of the Youngest Grid Stars Elected to Captaincy

New Haven, Nov. 24.—Malcolm P. Aldrich of Fall River, Mass., was elected captain of the Yale 1921 football team at a dinner tendered to all the Eli players who took part in the Harvard and Princeton games. He is one of the youngest, if not the very youngest leader of a Yale eleven, being but twenty years and one month old.

Aldrich prepared for Yale at the Durfee High School, Fall River, where he was a member of the eleven for two years, playing left halfback. Since coming to Yale, in 1918, he has played football, basketball and baseball. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and one of the popular students at the university.

WASHINGTON DETERMINED TO DEFEAT DARTMOUTH

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 24.—When the Dartmouth team goes into action against the University of Washington eleven here on Saturday, the big Green players will find themselves opposed by a bunch of husky football warriors who have the confidence of winning and who will receive the added stimulus that the referee blows the final whistle.

The Washington team is playing its first game of professional ball the end of a disastrous season, but the men have been coming back since they were defeated by the University of Montana, Oregon Agricultural and Leland Stanford, and today are a far better team than at any time since the football season opened.

FITTONS TO BATTLE MEDFORD ALL-STARS

The Fitton A. C. football team of East Boston will clash with the Medford All-Stars at Medford High School Field, Fulton street, Thanksgiving afternoon at 2:45.

The Medford team is coached by "Bob" Fowler, the old Harvard and Boston College trainer. Tommy Ring, who has starred for the Fittons all season at fullback, will play his old position as usual.

The Medford team is composed of former high school football stars and claim that they are able to defeat the Fittons.

Only section has been reserved for the East Boston fans, about 1,000 of whom will cheer their team to victory.

TROJANS-ADRIANS IN HOLIDAY GAME

The Adrian and Trojan football teams, representing Roxbury and Dorchester, meet tomorrow at the old Tech field, Brookline.

The Adrians have not been defeated in the past two seasons, their best achievement probably being the reverse they handed the strong Chelsea A. A. team by a score of 7 to 0.

The Trojan team will start the game favorites.

Competent officials will handle the game and steps have been taken to take care of a large crowd.

Washington, Nov. 24.—An appeal for a pardon in the case of Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion pugilist of the world, now serving a term of one year and a day at Leavenworth, Kansas, for violating the Mann act, was made before Pardon Attorney Turner by Elisha Scott, Chicago attorney.

The Department of Justice refused to permit the filing of an application for a pardon in Johnson's case because he is not eligible for such consideration until one-third of his term has been served. That will be about January 19, and until then no application will be filed.

October Record Month for Golf Matches

By WALTER C. HAGEN,

Twice Open Golf Champion of the United States.

The other day I found in my mail a notice announcing Pinehurst's first tournament of the season. I could hardly believe it possible that Winter golf was so soon at hand. This brings back recollections of the dear old times on the Southern links.

The amateur pro event at Pinehurst the latter part of the month is something out of the ordinary and the attendance will be good because the prize money offered is too tempting to turn down.

Golf at Pinehurst this season of the year will be a novelty for me as it has always been along toward the first of April when I hit the trail for the North Carolina resort.

After the exhibition matches with Vardon and Ray were over I took to the woods. It has been my practice for years to do a little hunting in the Adirondacks and I am writing this article from my camp up here in the mountains.

If there is more talk of shooting bullets than golf balls the reader can readily understand the reason therefor.

I believe that more golf was played in October this year than in any previous month of the season, and I doubt whether in years gone by the attendance at the golf clubs was so great.

This is, of course, due to the fact that ideal weather existed all over the country.

Never do I remember an October where it was possible to play golf from the beginning to the end of the month without a coat.

The weather even got the best of Harry Vardon this time and he was compelled to shed his coat for what they say was the first time in his golfing career.

The Stuff that goes into the New GRANT SIX tells why its owners like it

The lively motor—

Grant designed and builds the remarkably smooth-running, silent, lively motor that gives 35-40 horsepower. This combined power and smoothness make for fine flexibility.

Columbia rear axle—

Next to the motor, the axle is the most important part of the chassis. Grant rear axles have pressed steel one-piece housing, making them 50 per cent. stronger, lighter in weight, easier on tires.

Dependable electrical system—

Atwater-Kent ignition, Bijur two-unit starting and lighting, and Prestolite storage battery combine to form an electrical system of unquestioned merit.

Forced feed oiling—

The system of forced feed oiling on the New Grant Six is identical with the system used on cars selling for $1000 to $2000 more.

OLD RIVALS TO SETTLE DISPUTE

Question Dating Back to War Days Will Be Decided Tonight at Mechanics

By JACK CONWAY.

Bob Martin, heavyweight champion of the Inter-Allied armies, will be fighting with his back against the wall when he clashes with Captain Bob Roper of Chicago in a ten-round battle at the Faneuil A. C.'s show at Mechanics Building tonight.

Roper has already beaten Martin twice. The first engagement took place at Toledo the night before the Dempsey-Willard match. The judges' decision went to Roper. At Cleveland last July, Captain Bob won a newspaper decision over the Inter-Allied champion.

Roper has a brilliant record. He has not clashed with any setups. He has beaten Frank Moran, Jack Johnson and Bill Brennan, while he has fought three draws with Harry Greb. The Chicago soldier has been in the ring for twenty-two months and has never been knocked out.

Since coming to Boston early in the week, Roper has been busy training. Plenty of road work and a lot of boxing have made him fit for the fray.

Eddie Long, manager of Roper, declared today that his protege will smash his way to a decisive victory.

Tommy Dawson agreed to let Captain Roper because he didn't think the latter would be in shape for the match," declared Long. "We fooled them by coming on to Boston early so that Roper would not only be well rested, but in order that he would be as hard as nails when he entered the ring.

"Roper, as a matter of fact, has been training for three weeks. We had a match in Nevada with Johnny Cox which we called off when offered the chance to battle Martin in Boston."

Roper Has Speed and Also Kayo

Roper has been working out with Blackburn, the old-time ring idol. Those fans who have had the good fortune to see "Fighting Bob" in action are confident he will furnish one of the biggest surprises of the year tonight. He is not only fast but he packs a heavy punch in his right. He caught one of his sparring partners on the shoulder with a right hand sock during a workout and the honorable warrior kissed the canvas. Martin won't be the only fellow in there for Kid who has a man's sized wallop.

Like Martin, Roper is eager to win the world's heavyweight championship. During the war Roper won the heavyweight championship of the army camps in the United States.

Record Crowd Will See the Contest

The biggest crowd that has attended an indoor show in Boston since Kirby battled Murray is expected to be on hand tonight. This much is certain from the advance sale of tickets. Johnny McGann, who is in charge of affairs at the office of the Faneuil A. C. at No. 39 Court street, has been a mighty active individual. Reservations may be secured by calling Fort Hill 2060 or by calling at the club's headquarters.

Three Eight-Round Preliminary Bouts

There will be three eight-round preliminaries. Jack McCarthy, the fighting blacksmith from Woburn, and Leo Gregory of Somerville will be one team. Barney McAntee of South Boston and Charley Mitchell of Braintree are down to battle, as are Billy Gustin of South Boston and Joe McFadden of Providence.

TAD'S TIDBITS

BILLY SHADE STILL COMING.

Remember some time ago we wrote about a fellow named Shade stopping Tommy Uren down in Australia? Remember that the critics there tagged Shade a comer?

Well, Shade stopped Fred Kay there a few weeks ago in the fifteenth round after a fight that had the fans twitching in their seats. W. F. Corbett, the grizzled veteran of the Sydney Referee, has this to say of Shade:

"In his carriage, in the naturalness of his pose, Shade told of the fighting man. He is a Les Darcy in his foundations, which have yet to be thoroughly built upon. A good deal about him suggests that wonderful ring-man we had, whom Australia will never forget. Shade is much the same sort of fellow temperamentally. He is similarly gifted physically and possesses all Darcy's attributes. He loves the game for its own sweet sake and is a fighter to the core because so very aggressive. What was possible to Darcy might be possible to Shade. Darcy had been in the ring more or less for five years. Shade has been there inside two years. Another two or three years, if nothing untoward occurs, will see a great improvement in him—see him, perhaps, where Darcy must have reached had he survived—at top of the world's ladder. Further, Shade is as clean a living boy as was Les Darcy. He has the same great love for his mother and his father, also his home generally.

"Won't they be delighted back home when they hear that I have beaten Australia's middleweight champion? I've sent mother a cablegram," said he after his victory over Tommy Uren. And then, with the joy of the real boy, he added: "Gee, it's good to think about it!" It is my name your own odds that another cablegram was sent to mother last Saturday night.

"Billy Shade resembles Les Larcy in another respect which will appeal to the best that is in Australians more than any of the qualifications I have already mentioned. He does not believe in punishing an opponent unnecessarily. Several times during the last few rounds in Saturday night's battle Shade might have rushed that weakling right of his and finished matters. Also, he might have done other things which must have contributed toward the end; but everybody in the neighborhood of the ring could see that he held his hand. He merely fumbled and fussed so as to appear to be busy. All honor to such a man. As long as an adversary is a strong factor in a contest his opponent is justified in bringing everything he can legitimately bring in action to achieve success; but when an antagonist is broken and at the mercy of anything and everything that can be delivered, then the man who will spare his hand wins admiration on all sides. This trait was as strong in Les Darcy's nature as it was in Peter Jackson's."

Canada Cal's Chirps.

No, Artemisia, when the batter knocks the ball over the fence for a home run with the bases full and the ball cannot be found, the manager does not take the price of it out of his salary.

The Minute Men of the American Revolution were really the men of the hour.

A small boy of our acquaintance thinks the schools should teach fruit picking in all branches.

Fighters on the Move.

We hear that Battling Orlaco, a middleweight, and Jimmy Duffy, a "Philadelphia" lightweight, both of Frisco, are to arrive here soon.

Then we notice in an Australian paper that four European boxers have arrived in Australia for trouble. They are Arthur Wynn, Eugene Criqui, Andre Dupret and Francis Charles. Sweet names, no.

Mat Title at Stake in Holiday Bout

The big Thanksgiving night wrestling carnival in Mechanics Building will be bigger than ever this year, with Joe Stecker as the headliner, defending his world's title against John Olin, one of the two men ever to get a decision over the present champion.

There are a lot of fans who figure that Olin has as good a chance to repeat as any man in the game because of his great power and his remarkable endurance. Then, too, he will go against the scissors hold with the feeling that he has licked it before. Stecker does not scare Olin is also in fine form.

Stranzler Lewis, who came through his grueling battle against Wilbur Zbyszko with few bumps, is in great condition and will be able to give Stecker the battle of his life. Lewis, who was a winner at New York and one to all the big cities said about him.

Because of the big demand for tickets Promoter Toohey will keep his office at 262 Washington street open until 8:30 tonight and all day tomorrow.

Hippo Vaughn Knifed in Saloon Row

The stabbing it is said was the outcome of recent domestic troubles in the Vaughn family. A suit for divorce filed by Mrs. Vaughn recently, in which she charged the pitcher with cruelty and making false accusations against her of receiving attentions from other men, was withdrawn yesterday.

Xmas Fund to Benefit by Special Bout

Mickey Donovan, Brockton welterweight, and Frank Tillo of the North End are going to clash in a ten-round bout at a special show to be staged by the Fenway A. A. at Scenic Temple tomorrow afternoon.

Two have declared a real battle as both are agreeing to donate $25 of his end of the purse to the Boston American's Christmas Basket Fund. The Fenway Club has also agreed to add $25 to the Christmas Basket Fund from the proceeds of the show.

Jack Burns, manager of Donovan, is also expected to add $25 to the American's fund.

This Day in History—November 24, 1920

THIS is the anniversary of the death, in 1891, of the Earl of Lytton (Owen Meredith), son of the famous Bulwer Lytton. He wrote many notable poems, including "Lucile," a novel in verse. He was Viceroy of India from 1876 to 1880.

Portland Challenges the Rest of New England With Five "Loveliest Girls"

MARIE A. HOWARD, Portland, Me.

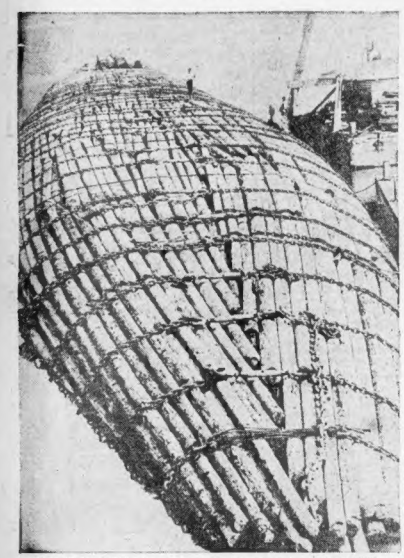
GOLDIE M. HILLMAN, Portland, Me.

MRS. GEO. COLLINS, Portland, Me.

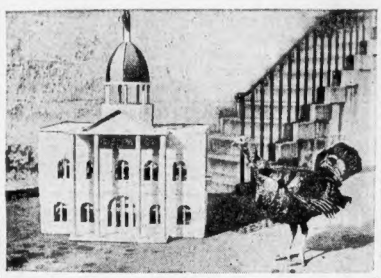
JESSIE ANN McLEAN, Portland, Me.

RUTH E. LAWRENCE, Portland, Me.

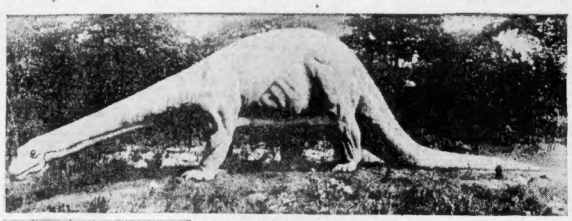
THE BOSTON AMERICAN offers $5,000 in gold for photographs of lovely girls. To the girl declared by the judges to be the loveliest girl in New England, the American will pay $3,000 in gold. To the next girl in merit, $1,000 in gold. There will be two third prizes of $500 each. In awarding the prizes the judges will have in mind Arthur Brisbane's definition of beauty. Mr. Brisbane says beauty is "intelligence in a fine setting." The judges will study the photographs, first for intelligence, second for health, and third for physical beauty. There are no strings attached. Just send in the photograph of your wife, sweetheart, sister or friend. All photographs will be given careful treatment and will be returned when the contest is over. Address all mail to "Loveliest Girl Editor," Boston American, P. O. Box 239, Boston 9, Mass.



PAGE MARK TWAIN—Wouldn't Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn have had a great time taking a cruise down the river on this raft of logs. Photo shows one of the huge log rafts that are still common in Oregon, where the lumber industry still thrives. —(c) International.



THE PRESIDENT WILL EAT—A gobbler weighing 36 pounds arrived at the White House in a crate modeled after the Capitol of Texas. —Int. News Reel No. 81.



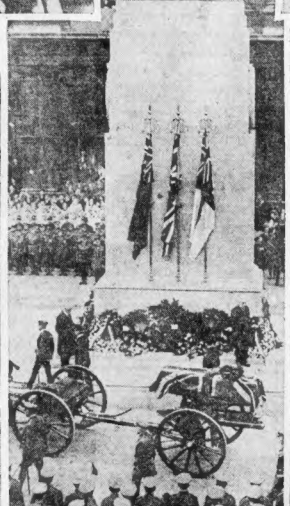
HEY! LOOK OUT, THERE!—Unless Joe Tumulty hurries, our friend the Diplodocus will stretch his long neck over into the next column and swallow the White House Thanksgiving dinner, feathers and all. Old "Dip" romped about these parts several centuries ago. —(c) K. & H.

SINGS NEW HIGH NOTES—Robert Murray, aged 12, of Tacoma, has been brought East by Mme. Frances Alda. —(c) K. & H.

KICKS; MASCULINE AND FEMININE—This interesting picture shows the difference between the kick of Morrison of California and Whitmore of Broadway. Miss Whitmore seems to have the edge in height, but the football star has thrown the whole weight of his body into it. —(c) U. & U.

TODAY'S LESSON—Introducing a Cuvier Toucan named "Bill." Residence, Franklin Park Zoo. Formerly of Amazon Valley. Has a long beak and bad manners. Eats fruit and throws his head back and bolts his food. Sleeps with his head and tail facing each other and resting on his back. His plumage and beak are of bright colors.

GREATEST HORSEWOMAN — Miss Becky Lanier, daughter of Charles D. Lanier, swept the National Horse Show this year. Miss Lanier, who has not yet made her debut, rode three winners in a single class. She has won nearly 200 ribbons. —(c) International.



UNKNOWN HERO—One of the thousands whose blood nourished the poppies in Flanders fields was buried with impressive ceremonies alongside other great heroes in Westminster Abbey, London. Photo shows the coffin, mounted on a gun carriage, passing the Cenotaph in Whitehall. —Int. News Reel No. 81.

THOUSANDS VISIT PILGRIM STATUE—One of the many interesting sights in connection with the Pilgrim Tercentenary is the statue which has been erected on a rise of ground overlooking the historic landing spot. What a shock some of those gentlemen would get if they could see our young friends above engaging in a kicking exhibition. But in those days the young men shot Indians instead of oraps and the girls manipulated a spinning wheel instead of an automobile. Verily, Oscar, times have changed these past 300 years. —(c) Underwood & Underwood.

INSURES H&R CALVES—Not that she wants to be sure they will grow into beeves. They "ain't that kind of calves." Madame Doralinda is having her legs measured by Lloyds in obtaining insurance against accident. She is declared by doctors to be the most perfectly formed woman in the world and is now in Los Angeles to have her perfections filmed. Larry, turn the crank. —(c) International.

HOLBROOK CITIZENS TO IGNORE TROLLEYS

Holbrook, Nov. 24.—Resumption of street car traffic by the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway has failed to bring peace between that corporation and the citizens of Holbrook, who have organized a jitney bus service and are refusing to use the trolley company's cars to any extent. The Holbrook Improvement Association is to operate the buses. No regular fare is to be charged for the trip to Braintree, but members of the association, who alone are to be carried in the buses, are to be assessed $1.20 weekly. Hundreds have signed up and paid their first week's assessment. The buses will start running December 4.

ST. AMBROSE CHURCH TO HOLD REUNION

Rev. Dennis J. Maguire, former chaplain of the U. S. S. Mt. Vernon, and members of the crew of that vessel, will attend the first re-union of parishioners of St. Ambrose parish, Dorchester, in the Dorchester High School tonight. Rev. Joseph P. Murphy will be in charge. Rev. John H. Harrington, pastor, will be a guest.

St. Mary's Asylum Bazaar

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Mary's Infant Asylum plans to hold a Christmas sale and bazaar in Ronan Memorial Hall, Dorchester, December 1 and 2. Whist will be played on the afternoon and evening of both days.

25-POUND LIMIT ON SOLDIER PACKAGES

Washington, Nov. 24.—Christmas packages for American soldiers in the Army of Occupation in Germany must not weigh more than twenty-five pounds or have a combined length and girth of 84 inches, according to regulations established by the Quartermaster-General. Packages for soldiers at Panama must not exceed 72 inches in length and girth.

Tech Musical Club's Tour

Musical clubs of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology will make their first extended tour since the war during Christmas week to Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Washington.

Don't Forget the Mechanics Hall Meeting Friday Night

At Mechanics Hall, Friday evening, some of the most eloquent men in the country will deliver the funeral sermons upon the League of Nations.

Those who will address the meeting will take part in the council of the nation in the next four years and will be able to tell us things of great value to us concerning what lies before us in these four important years.

When you hear Senators Reed, Gore and Walsh on the League of Nations and on our relations with the rest of the world during the next four years, you will listen to men who have been in the thick of the battle over those relationships. Two of them will again enter the arena to defend a real American concept of internationalism. It will be an education and a pleasure for thoughtful men and women to attend this meeting. We urge you all to be there to hear Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, Senator Reed of Missouri, Senator Gore of Oklahoma and Governor Bartlett of New Hampshire.

The Modern House That Jack Built

Please consider this modern version of the house that Jack built. You do not like high prices. For this reason or for some other reason, though needing many things, you decide you will not buy any more from the stores. Therefore, the stores cannot sell; therefore, they do not buy from the manufacturer.

Therefore, the manufacturer cannot sell and cannot keep his plant working. Therefore, he shuts his plant down.

Therefore, his employes are out of work and have no money and cannot buy from the grocer, the baker and the candlestick-maker. Therefore, the grocer, and the baker, and candlestick-maker cannot sell and, therefore, cannot buy. Therefore, the manufacturers and the farmers who sell to him cannot buy and those who sell to them must shut down. Therefore, they cannot buy and those who sell to them must shut down.

So it goes, ad infinitum, until everybody in the community is involved and we are all shut down and none of us can buy.

High prices are better than this condition, for a plate of beans which cost 5 cents is just as far away from a man who has nothing as it would be if it cost $1.00; and a plate of beans that cost 15 cents is much nearer to a man who has 15 cents than a plate of beans that cost 5 cents is to a man who has nothing.

What is the moral?

Join Chamber of Commerce and Help Boost Boston

The smartness of an occasional small city surprises you so much that you ask questions about it.

"This fine hotel," you say, "how did this happen?"

"The Chamber of Commerce!"

"Your splendid streets and lighting system?"

"The Chamber took hold."

"And that wonderful railroad station?"

"Chamber did that, too."

There is almost no limit to the number of desirable things a big and strong Chamber of Commerce can do for the community it blesses. The bigger the Chamber, the larger should be the number of its good works; the stronger the Chamber of Commerce, so much the more helpful its activities.

These are among many reasons why the American hopes for the success of Boston Chamber of Commerce efforts to increase the Chamber membership from approximately 5,800 to 7,500. With the latter enrollment, the Boston Chamber will be the "largest organization of its kind in the world." Mighty good advertising for Boston.

What IS a Chamber of Commerce? We like President George H. Nutter's definition as well as any other. "A Chamber of Commerce," Mr. Nutter says, "is a CO-OPERATIVE effort to ascertain and satisfy the economic needs of a community."

We can imagine no reason why the Boston Chamber of Commerce should be limited to a membership of even 7,500. Five times that number of business and professional men in this section have enjoyed and now enjoy many of the benefits of the Chamber.

Take the important question of transportation, so far as it affects the business interests of Boston and vicinity. Take the question of developing the port. To what organization other than the Chamber does everybody look for action or advice on these subjects?

The small Boston merchant, as well as the big Boston merchant, will get along better for being a member of the Retail Trade Division of the Chamber. The manufacturer benefits from the Transportation Bureau. Men whose interests lie in shipping and on the seas should enroll in the Maritime Association of the Chamber.

The professional man who gets no more out of his Chamber membership than good association, and the occasional talks by leaders of national reputation and standing, will find his twenty-five dollar membership fee well invested. In cold cash, however, the barriers the Chamber has placed in the way of the "advertising" hold-up man and the fake collector, returns the annual fee many times over.

The Boston Chamber of Commerce is nothing more nor less than 5,800 business and professional men working for the best interests of the community.

"By helping Boston to be prosperous and efficient the Chamber saves money for EVERY INDIVIDUAL DRAWING A PROFIT FROM THE COMMUNITY.

AT LEAST he should be willing to pay something to maintain this work.

Words taken from Current Affairs, the Chamber of Commerce weekly, and leaving nothing to be said.

Except, perhaps, this:

The business or professional man who is helped by the Chamber of Commerce—as all of them ARE—and who lets other men support the Chamber for him, is guilty of stealing his ride.

Do not be a free-luncheon grabber in the Cafe de Business. Be a regular fellow. Kick in. Do your bit. Join the Chamber of Commerce. Boost Boston!

P. S.—There isn't any "drive" on. No one is "campaigning." The slogan is "Every member get a member in November!" and the thing is being done by personal effort. Any member of the Chamber will help YOU to get in.

Our little friend, Hubert Hardluck, having read about the great philosopher Diogenes who lived in a barrel, thinks he will do the same and solve the housing problem. He picks out a nice barrel, suitable for light housekeeping, and moves his family in. Alas! Yeah, you said it, alas! The barrel belongs to the Landlords' Protective Association, and they come around for the rent.

More Truth Than Poetry

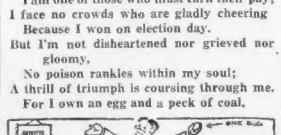
Precious Possessions

By S. E. KISER

THERE are plenty of men who are strutting proudly
With little cause for the pride they claim;
There are plenty of men who are boasting loudly
When they ought to be hiding their heads shame;
There are men who are winning through speculation—
Some are collecting and some pay toll;
I feel like starting a celebration,
For I own an egg and a peck of coal.

MIDAS, they tell us, was mighty wealthy;
Doubtless he had his moments of mirth.
Some men are happy because they are healthy,
Others have little but pride of birth.
I haven't won fame—I am nowhere near it—
And perhaps I never shall reach my goal,
But still I am claiming a joyful spirit,
For I own an egg and a peck of coal.

I HAVE claimed no fortune through profiteering,
I am one of those who must earn their pay;
I face no crowds who are gladly cheering
Because I won on election day.
But I'm not disheartened nor grieved nor gloomy,
No poison rankles within my soul;
A thrill of triumph is coursing through me.
For I own an egg and a peck of coal.



STILL THERE'S JOY IN THE WORLD

My heart is always filled with cheer.
The sky is bright and sunny,
When I behold a profiteer
Who thinks disaster must be near
Because he spent his money.

A Little Talk on Thrift

By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

The day is coming in America when thrift shall be as much a part of the curricula of our schools as mathematics.

Within recent months steps have been taken in a number of States to incorporate the principles of personal efficiency in the teachings given the young. While the scope of these activities is still somewhat limited, it is of sufficient importance to denote definite tendencies.

It seems strange that thrift has never been taught in our schools. Washington, Franklin, Lincoln and many others of the nation's immortals counseled the teachings of thrift, yet until recent years no action was ever taken in this country along these lines. Lincoln's advice was direct, cut and positive. He said: "Teach economy—that is one of the first and highest virtues; it begins with saving money."

When we look into the subject deeply we discover that the very essence of all personal and business success is thrift.

History's page has ever revealed that thrifty nations prosper and thriftless ones crumble away.

Thrift is the keystone in the arch of human accomplishment, standing steadfast through the ages.

A great proportion of human suffering can be traced to the lack of thrift, while thriftlessness is the forerunner of poverty, crime and ruin.

Notwithstanding the prominent place thrift occupies in the affairs of mankind, it was only in the last few years that it has been spoken of as a possible subject for study in schools. But we are finding now that it is possible to inculcate in the minds of the young a conception of the relative value of thrift in connection with other branches. It is possible to convey these mighty truths in such a manner that they will become a part of the personal routine and life tendencies of our youthful citizens.

Parents should not depend entirely on the schools for these inspirations for their children. Nothing within the range of parental duty can prove as valuable to the offspring as a foundation of thrift understanding. Health, wealth, ability and education may all come to naught in the face of thriftless practices.

The child who best appreciates the value of thrift is best equipped for the battles of life.

Teach thrift; not alone the thrift of saving money, but the greater thrift which means economy, the elimination of waste, and personal efficiency in its broadest sense.

WHEREVER SHE lived.
I DON'T know.
BUT ANYWAY.
EVEN AS a child.
SHE WAS very pretty.
AND HER parents' friends.
AND HER relatives.
USED TO pinch her cheeks.
AND SAY to her.
"YOU'LL BE a killer.
WHEN YOU get a little older."
AND WHEREVER she lived,
WHEN SHE got a little older.
SHE SAVED a little money.
AND CAME to New York.
AND GOT a job.
IN A downtown store.
AND EVERY day.
SHE TRAVELED miles.
IN SUBWAY trains.
AND GOT in jams.
AND HATED everybody.
AND WISHED she was home.
AND THEN one day.
THEY TOOK her away.
FROM THE notion counter.
AND GAVE her a job.
IN THE suits and gowns.
AND AFTER a while.
SHE BECAME a model.
AND ANOTHER day.
SOMEBODY SAID.
"YOU'RE REALLY too pretty.
TO WORK like this."
AND SHE really was.
AND THE very first thing.
THAT ANYBODY knew.
SHE UP and left.
AND WAS in a show.
AND SHE did very well.
AND JUST the other day.
AT THE stage entrance door.
SHE PICKED up something.
FROM OFF the floor.
AND SAID to the doorman.
"SEE THIS funny little ticket.
WHATEVER CAN it be?"
AND THE doorman said,
"IT'S A subway ticket."
AND THE lady said,
"HOW DELICIOUSLY interesting.
IS MY car outside?"
AND HE said it was.

I THANK you.

Sunset

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

I SAW the day lean o'er the world's sharp edge
And peer into night's chasm, dark and damp.
High in his hand he held a blazing lamp,
Then dropped it, and plunged headlong down the ledge.

With lurid splendor that swift paled to gray
I saw the dim skies suddenly flush bright.
'Twas but the expiring glory of the light
Flung from the hand of the adventurous day.

VERY FEW TELL THE EXACT TRUTH

"ONE of the points on which men of all times have been in accord is the platonic love they profess for Truth, and the very real fear they have of it," says Romain Rolland.

And again: "One discovers little by little that the greatest difficulty is to wish to say what one thinks."

Most men have a very real fear of the truth.

The word "radical," which properly means one who goes to the "root" of things, and hence a fearless truth teller, has some tinge of reproach in it. Most of us have a sneaking idea that the radical must be some sort of a dangerous person.

He is. For our observation makes us conclude that only children and madmen tell the truth recklessly.

This does not mean all men are of evil conscience. Quite the contrary. It means that they are excessively conscientious; they get jockeyed into a sect or party, which their loyalty leads them to cling to, even when it is wrong.

Whichever side you are on, you will have noticed this fact in this political campaign.

In the champions of the Republican party, for instance, you are absolutely sure of one thing, not that they will speak the truth, but that they will not knowingly say anything to harm their party.

In the same way, from their opponents, you expect not truth, but consistency.

When one forms an opinion and announces it, takes a stand and lines up with a policy, it is no great task to make every fact face about to suit his purpose.

Every sect, even the wildest, proves its position from Bible texts.

Every partisan points triumphantly to American history.

The fact is, the mind is a curious engine. We utter ourselves usually to produce an effect on others, not to record what is true.

So, when you go to a political meeting you know beforehand exactly what sentiments will be expressed; when you pick up your newspaper at breakfast you know just what the editor's point of view will be, and when you go to church on Sunday you are not to be surprised at anything the preacher may say.

And if the political orator should so far forget himself as to produce an opinion or call up a fact hostile to his party, if the Democratic newspaper publishes an argument favorable to Republicans, or if the Methodist parson preaches Roman Catholicism, an offender will speedily lose his job.

The fact is that a mind thoroughly impregnated with love and loyalty to truth is a rare jewel.

We find it sometimes in the laboratory of the scientist, but even there egotism, consistency or fear often stains the white excellence of pure intellect.

The world is slow in arriving at any ethics of the intellect. It has long insisted on morality of conduct, but has discounted morality of reason.

For centuries and in all lands it has been considered a commendable thing, so praiseworthy indeed as to warrant getting to heaven, to say one believed what was manifestly absurd and to cling loyally to statements that no one understood. We still twist verity to suit expediency. We still are more careful to estimate the effect of our statements than their accuracy.

The essence of truth, as distinguished from propaganda, may be illustrated in a story told by a missionary's wife. She was returning home at night in Calcutta in a sedan chair. As she was passing a watchman, or native policeman, she stopped her chairbearers and inquired of the officer the time.

He was excessively polite, after the manner of the courteous Hindu, and with a low bow replied:

"It is any time your ladyship desires."

After all, what's the time o'day between friends?

This is the list of expediency, as distinguished from truth. Expediency looks to the effect to be produced on the mind of the hearer. Truth looks only to the facts in the mind of the teller.

WHEN ONE MASSACRE WAS ONLY A BATTLE

By Damon Runyon.

Copyright, 1920, by Star Company.

I WAS once incautious enough to refer, in print, to this incident in Western history as "the Sand Creek massacre."

Various old gentlemen with wind-burned complexions and stringy goatees, including my father, indignantly remonstrated. They said it was "the battle of Sand Creek." My father was quite hot about the matter.

Sand Creek, or Big Sandy Creek, is a tributary of the Arkansas River in the eastern part of Colorado. There, in the Fall of 1864, the Cheyenne Indian chief, Black Kettle, and the Arapahoe, Little Raven, were camped with their warriors and women and children.

These were scary times in Colorado, with many Indians on the warpath, but Black Kettle claimed to be peacefully inclined. He was one of a number of chiefs who attended a peace conference in Denver some time before, ad made a masterly oration. Then he took his band of Cheyennes, and with Little Raven and his Arapahoes surrendered to the commandant at Fort Lyon.

Later the commandant directed the Indians to hunt buffalo in the vicinity of Sand Creek, as he could no longer furnish them with provisions. Sand Creek is some forty miles from Fort Lyon.

Some say the Indians were living there very quietly, refraining from depredations. Others of our old men have always pointed to the fact that two or three fresh scalps of murdered whites were later found in the lodges, together with some older scalps.

In any event, to Sand Creek in the dawn of a cold November morning marched Colonel John M. Chivington, and a regimet of close to a thousand mounted men, Coloradans and New Mexicans, mainly; some regulars, and some volunteers.

Chivington was a big, tall, handsome man, who had been a minister of the gospel. He had little military training, but many of the qualities of leadership. He made a brief speech at the peace conference in Denver, replying to Black Kettle and the other Indians, and he said:

"I am not a big war chief, but all the soldiers in this country are at my command. My rule of fighting white men or Indians is to fight them until they lay down their arms and become subject to military authority."

In the glimmering light of the early day Chivington halted his troops in the bed of Sand Creek, then nearly dry, and made another very short speech. Parson's history states that he said: "Men, strip for action. I don't tell you to kill all papooses of Indians of war, but look back on the plains of the Platte where your mothers, fathers, brothers and sisters have been slain, their blood saturating the sands."

Old timers have told me that what he really said was: "Kill the nits, for the nits breed the lice!" Perhaps this is a misquotation, like many of these fierce military expressions.

There were about one hundred and fifty warriors in the camp and four hundred and fifty old men, squaws and children, most of them sleeping, when Chivington gave the order to attack. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon three hundred Indians were dead.

"No Indian, young or old, male or female, was spared," said Lieutenant Cramer, who was there.

Black Kettle and a handful of his people escaped. Left Hand, an Arapahoe chief, was killed. White Antelope, another Arapahoe, was shot down as he ran to meet the soldiers, his hands raised, palms outward in token of peace, crying: "Stop! Stop!"

Chivington reported the affair as a great victory, and received a royal welcome when he returned to Denver. He issued a complimentary order in which he pronounced it a triumph "unparalleled in the history of Indian warfare."

The East roared back in horror, and Chivington was censured by Congress, but the Legislature of Colorado thanked him. Our pioneers generally stood by him. Chivington believed the camp of Indians to be hostile, and he had one idea about dealing with hostile Indians.
